SECOND COVID WAVE POSES HIGHER RISKS FOR ECONOMY

Fitch Ratings on Friday said the second wave of infections poses increased risks for India's fragile economic recovery and its banks

BUSINESSES TO TAKE HUGE HIT IF CASES SPIKE

The rating agency expects a moderately worse environment for the Indian banking sector in 2021, but challenges would intensify if rising infections and follow-up measures to contain the virus further affect business and economic activity. Fitch forecasts India's GDP growth at 12.8% for FY22. But the rising pace of infections poses renewed risks to the forecast, it said

CHALLENGING TIMES FOR BANKING SECTOR

- Over 80% of new cases are in six states, which account for 45% of total banking sector loans. Any further disruption in economic activity in these states would hit business sentiment, Fitch said
- Meanwhile, another report by Oxford Economics said India's economy is resilient but the next few months will be critical

Resort politics back as Assam Oppn candidates flown to Raj

Eighteen from AIUDF and two from Congress brought to Fairmont Hotel in Jaipur to keep them off BJP reach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata/New Delhi/Patna/Mumbai

APPREHENDING poaching by the BJP, Assam's Congress-led grand alliance of Opposition has moved 20 party candidates to a hotel in Jaipur. Eighteen from minority-based All India United Democratic Front and two from the Congress were sent to Rajasthan in a chartered plane on Friday. They all have been kept in Fairmont Hotel, where Rajasthan Congress MLAs were kept for days after rebellion by party leader Sachin Pilot.

"We have just landed in Rajasthan. The Chief Minister (Ashok Gehlot) is making all arrangements for our stay," one of them said.

Speculations are rife that the remaining Opposition candidates will fly out of Assam soon.

The third and final phase Assam polls were held on April 6 and the results of the keenly-contested elections will be declared on May 2.

Given past experiences, they are not taking any chances. In the last Manipur elections, the Congress had bagged 28 seats compared to the BJP's 22 in the 60-member House but the latter managed to cobble together the numbers — courtesy defections — and form the government.

Congress and AIUDF are components of the 10-party Opposition alliance, which was formed two months ago to oust the BJP from power. Bodoland People's Front (BPF) is another key constituent of the alliance.

Confirming this development, Congress Chief Whip in the Rajasthan Assembly Mahesh Joshi said, "It is now a well-known trend that the BJP tries to indulge in horse-trading. So, the aim is to take measures for protecting our people."

BETWEEN the binary of a ladaku neta (the warlike Mamata Banerjee) and the PM's fort-destroyer act, complete with taunts and slogans, there's another figure who's also in the contest—quite strangely, in his absence. He is Buddhadeb Bhattacharjee.

The 77-year-old former West Bengal CM's failing health—especially respiratory trouble in this Covid season—has kept him away from the public stage. All that has come from him by way of intervention in this election season is a statement. He shot a single arrow, talking of "the unravelling of the Singur-Nandigram conspiracy", and the irony of "the conspirators now fighting each other" in the silence of the graveyard.

Ear to the Ground
WEST BENGAL
SANTWANA BHATTACHARYA

Where did he find 'silence' in this deafeningly high-decibel contest? What he refers to is the silence—the lack of any discussion, amidst this very personalised campaign—on what he believes to be the real issue. That is, the derailed industrialisation of Bengal.

His own attempt to reverse that, beginning from Singur-Nandigram, was a dark and fated one: it had cost Buddhadeb his government and led to his ignominious exit from electoral politics. He had even lost the Jadavpur seat to his former chief secretary, Manish Gupta, by a margin of over 16,000 votes. That was in 2011, when Mamata swept into power on what was called a mandate for paribartan (change).

Ten years down the line, the BJP is riding on the idea of asol paribartan (real change). If that sounds like an echo, there are reasons why it resonates. They are the same reasons from a decade ago. Jobless youth are the most common sight everywhere in the state—even though Bengal's unemployment, if CMIE data is to be believed, is less than that of Haryana, Rajasthan or Bihar. Indeed, at 17.4% as per the CMIE 2020 annual survey, Bengal's unemployment is even less than the national average. But it's nearly double compared to neighbouring Odisha and Assam's 9.6%.

Take the group of youth, all graduates, whiling away their time around a tea stall outside one of Bishnupur's famous terracotta temples. None of them have jobs.

Remdesivir too in short supply

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai/Jaipur/Bhopal/Bengaluru

AMID states grappling with stretched Covid facilities and vaccine shortage, Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot sent an SOS to the Centre regarding vaccine supply on Friday, even as more inoculation centres were shut in Maharashtra, taking their total count to 592. There were also reports of shortage of Remdesivir that is used to treat Covid patients, in Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka and Madhya Pradesh.

Seventy-five of the 120 centres across Mumbai, including a jumbo facility in the Bandra Kurla Complex that was inoculating 4,000 people daily, halted vaccinating people on Friday as supply dried up.

"We have been asking the Centre to ramp up the supply, but there is no positive response. To set up a centre, we spend a lot of money on infrastructure and engage many trained people. Shutting down the centres is a big setback to our vaccination drive," said a senior health official in Maharashtra.

In Rajasthan, the vaccine stock will last only two days, Ashok Gehlot said in a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, and sought immediate supply of 30 lakh doses to ensure smooth continuation of the inoculation drive, particularly during the 'tika utsav' proposed by the PM.

With hospital beds filling up fast and demand for oxygen shooting up, supply is drying up in some states. Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray has already stated that the state is in "dire need" of oxygen of 1,700-2,500 MT oxygen by April-end.

K'taka 3rd highest in Covid insurance claims

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA stands third among states, after Maharashtra and Gujarat, in terms of Covid-19 insurance claims from the start of the pandemic until April 1, 2021. Patients in the state have claimed ₹11,36,36,58,040 crore through public and private insurance so far. The figures for Maharashtra and Gujarat are ₹4,345 crore and ₹1,922 crore, respectively.

As per an analysis done by Jeevan Raksha, an initiative of Proxima, supported by Public Health Foundation of India, average Covid-19 claims from some districts are higher than Bengaluru, although the cost of running a hospital in the metropolitan city is significantly higher. This is as per data from the General Insurance Council of India.

Patients in cities like Yadgir, Vijayapura, Belagavi, Chitradurga, Hassan, Kalaburagi, Tumakuru, Bagalkot, Gadag and Shivamogga claimed higher average Covid-19 insurance amounts than those in Bengaluru, which saw average medical insurance claim for Covid-19 at ₹1,42,000. Excluding Gadag, Shivamogga and Bengaluru, all the districts mentioned had a higher average claim amount than the Karnataka average of ₹1,50,000. Bengaluru, in fact, had a lower average claim amount than the pan-India average of ₹1,47,000.

India cross as US Navy does unauthorised drill

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

TWO days after a US Navy conducted an unusual 'navigation operation' through India's Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) off Lakshadweep Islands without prior permission, New Delhi on Friday conveyed its concerns to Washington through diplomatic channels.

On Wednesday, the US Navy had issued a statement saying its warship, USS John Paul Jones (DDG 53), "asserted navigational rights and freedoms 130 nautical miles west of the Lakshadweep Islands, without requesting India's prior consent." According to the US, India's claims on EEZ under the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) are inconsistent with international law. While India ratified the UNCLOS in 1982, the US is not a signatory. According to sources, India is examining the event closely. "We have to examine it from the view of the intent and its future implications", said an official.

Student evaluation mode to be decided soon: Govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chitradurga

PRIMARY and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar on Friday said the department will prepare an action plan after Ugadi, for evaluation of students from Classes 6 to 9 and ensure that assessment of some kind is conducted to gauge their knowledge levels. A decision on whether the evaluation will be online or offline will be announced soon after holding a meeting with experts and officials, he said.

Addressing mediapersons in Chitradurga, the minister said that at a recent meeting of parents' associations, members of the government teachers' association, education experts and other stakeholders, it was decided to have evaluation in some format.

The stakeholders had categorically rejected promotion of students without any examination, Suresh Kumar pointed out.

More Covid Care Centres in each zone: BBMP Chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WITH Covid-19 cases rising rapidly, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Friday said more Covid Care Centres are being planned at the zonal level. Speaking to reporters after a meeting with health officials and zonal commissioners, Gupta said that directions have been issued to identify places in each zone, where 2-3 CCCs with a capacity of 50-100 beds will be created. Emphasis is on reviewing and reopening the ones which were in use earlier. He, however, stated that these CCCs will not be as big as the existing two centres of the government -- Haj Bhavan and HAL Command and Control Centre, or the earlier one at BIEC.

The need to create more CCCs by the BBMP and health department has risen because 60 per cent of the beds in the existing two CCCs are already full.

Meanwhile, Gupta said there are too many numbers through which people can reach out for medical emergencies and for Covid-related issues, which is creating confusion. So now, a single contact number - 1912 - will be promoted in and around Bengaluru for all Covid-related queries, services and problems.

On the vaccination issue, Gupta said that at present, 36,000 people are being vaccinated in the city, which will be increased to one lakh per day.

He added that talks are being held with apartment and commercial complexes to increase vaccination, while emphasis is also being laid on testing, quarantine and home isolation. If five people from one house test positive, the neighbouring houses will also be declared containment zones.

He added that a Centralised Hospital Bed Management system is being reactivated, which will make people aware about bed availability. Already, 80 per cent of the people who have tested positive are in home isolation.

Pertaining to Bengaluru Karaga, Gupta said so far, nothing has been decided, considering that 95 people have tested positive in Dharmarayaswamy temple ward.

2nd wave may sink 30% of F&B biz in city

Pub owners, restaurateurs fear night curfew will hit already ailing sector hard

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE second wave of Covid-19 may wipe out 30 per cent of food and beverage business outlets in Bengaluru, fear many restaurant and pub owners. Many have opposed the "last order at 9pm" restriction, with the night curfew beginning Saturday.

"Our businesses had just about started picking up in February, and we were doing 60 to 70 per cent of pre-Covid business, but since mid-March, footfall has reduced drastically. Now with night curfew, we don't expect any business in the evenings," said Amit Roy of Watson's, a pub chain in the city. "The first year of Covid was a big blow to the hospitality industry, with the lockdown and partial reopening. The second wave and night curfew are the last nails in the coffin. We don't have any financial backing and banks are also hesitant to give loans because of the fear of non-payment and bad debts," said another restaurant owner.

The Karnataka government has imposed night curfew from 10pm to 5am from April 10 to 20 in the city. "This means that we take the last order at 8.30 pm. We have to start winding up by 9.30pm to reach home before the 10pm deadline. People working from home step out to dine only after 9pm. Hope these night restrictions are not extended beyond April 20," Roy added.

Manu Chandra, head of the Bengaluru chapter of National Restaurants Association of India (NRAI), said the second wave will spell trouble for many businesses, especially hospitality. "It's difficult to say how many of us will be able to sustain the wipeout of two financial years in a row, with no respite on licence fee or financial support from the government. Some of us may have to shut shop. While we need to be conscientious about arresting the spread of the virus and saving human lives, there are livelihoods that need to be protected," said Chandra.

He said that in the last year, many employees of the hospitality industry have lost their jobs and are looking for suitable placement. "The kind of resumes being circulated for employment in the industry is heartbreaking. People who were at the peak of their careers have lost jobs, and there are no vacancies for such senior professionals," he added.

Narayan Manepally of Geist Brewing Factory said he will have to "wait and watch" the impact of the second wave. "Ours is an outdoor place. Last year, people were fed up of sitting at home. So when the lockdown lifted, they wanted to come to a hygienically maintained outdoor place to unwind, relax and enjoy a good meal. Post the lockdown, we did 120 per cent of our pre-Covid business because of the same reasons," he added.

12.5K computers to reach govt colleges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE higher education department has started distributing 12,500 debonded computers under its 'Help Educate' initiative, said officials. The initiative aims to help students and train teachers. The programme reaches out to corporates for the infrastructural development of government colleges.

The computers will be sent to government undergraduate colleges, engineering colleges and technical education colleges.

Department of collegiate education commissioner Pradeep P flagged off the vehicles which were carrying the computers from the department's office on Seshadri Road on Friday. Speaking to TNIE, Pradeep said that to aid 430 government undergraduate colleges, 85 polytechnic and 14 engineering colleges, 30,000 computers will be needed. He said that as part of the MoU with Cognizant, 9,000 advanced computers have come in from various states. In future, they will be handing over 8,000 more ecomputers.

"Over the months, discussions were under way as to how to put these computers to use at government colleges and how they are to be transported. Rotary Club came forward to help with the same," he said.

Bridge courses to help students from next yr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chitradurga

MINISTER for Primary and Secondary Education S Suresh Kumar said on Friday that the education department was planning to conduct bridge courses for students in the next academic year, to fill gaps in learning due to the Covid-19 pandemic. He said that the previous year's syllabus would be taught in a comprehensive manner.

The minister further directed BEOs and DDPIs to visit the examination centres in their areas and try to repair the buildings, if needed, as monsoon will soon hit the state. He said that at present, 8,75,798 students are writing the SSLC exams in 3,020 centres, and 7,01,561 students are writing PU exams across 1,037 centres.

"All the departments are joining hands to make the examination a success," he said. NCC, NSS, Scouts and Guides, and Indian Red Cross volunteers will join hands with the education department to ensure exams are held smoothly.

Replying to a question on NEET and JEE preparation, he said that the syllabus has been cut short to help students.

Suburban rail: Citizens seek more time

Bengaluru: Citizens, environmentalists and members of Jhatkaa.org have asked the state government and tree committee to extend the time given to review the plan of the suburban railway project. As per the initial plan, 1,034 trees will be axed for creating the rail network. Citizens stated that 10 days was too short to assess the proposal. They stated that it was the first time a suburban railway project was being launched, and it was different from a regular road work project. Hence, they needed more time. Till April 8, 2021, around 600 citizens have sent an email to the deputy conservator of forests (Urban), via Jhatkaa.org, seeking an extension to the deadline. ENS

PETER VIDAL

10th April: This is a lively moment – partly because the Moon is in a very active and energetic zone. Personally, I have always been fond of a peaceful life so today's patterns are way too feisty for my liking. I am hoping that they calm down next week, and that we can all return to normal!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Two very unnerving planetary aspects are set to continue, and your best strategy is to realise that other people cannot always be relied upon. Once you understand this, you'll stop expecting them to achieve the impossible. Be more realistic, just for a change!

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Close partners really are so terribly difficult to fathom, for some mysterious reason. Why, you ask, should they persist in making what is so very simple, so terribly complicated? Just accept that their view of reality is different from yours and leave them to it!

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
You may look to family members for support - and expect to get it! You must work hard to achieve your aims and boost your income. By all accounts you have a flare for business, but in this, and in relationships, you're moving towards a high risk strategy. Play to win!

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
From now on, probably for up to 10 weeks, you will be going over old ground. Nothing repeats itself exactly. You will be carving out the future, though it may not feel like it. Use the opportunity to do now what you failed to get right the first time around.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Family members or people you live with still seem to insist on raking over the past. Just why they should be so reluctant to let go may be a mystery to you, but they have their reasons. You have to give other people time to catch up, so be patient - at least for now.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
If you have said your piece, that's fine. However, there may be more to say before the air is well and truly cleared, so start laying down the law. The only people who will be surprised will be those who have always misjudged you. And perhaps that's about time!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You've got one last chance to reach your targets. Don't squander it. Business arrangements still seem a little complex, but you could be making a mountain out of a very ordinary molehill. The best thing you can do today is pamper yourself. You deserve it!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's important to discover just how things reached their current state, even if it means going back over memories that are half-forgotten, or even completely buried in the past. Somehow the truth will out. The sooner you get your story ready, the better!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Some things are so utterly obvious, others so terribly obscure. The best advice is probably to tackle financial matters and spending plans first, then the emotional issues. You need to deal with details but don't dig too deep, for you may not like what you find!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The whole mood of the times is still pregnant with romantic possibilities and emotional power. You need change and variety, and without these things you may blame the people you're with for holding you back. Mind you, perhaps you're equally responsible!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You may be slightly bemused by the way professional plans have developed, for there seems to be little rhyme or reason behind a number of recent events. Much the same goes for your romantic life. Give up trying to make sense of the world and enjoy it instead!

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Don't imagine that short-term pressures are all that matter. You must only be concerned about your long-range welfare. Immediate events seem to have a momentum of their own, and it is a very smart person indeed who can see what is to happen next week, or even tomorrow!

'Disease severity less despite high ICU numbers'

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

EVEN though the number of Covid-19 cases are rising, the disease is less severe this time, according to members of the tele-ICU team that monitors high-risk Covid patients in the state. Dr Anoop Amarnath, Head, Scientific Board and Chairman-Geriatric Medicine, Manipal Hospital, who is part of the team, said that the case severity was not high as people were getting tested in time, as compared to the first wave in the state. There is less stigma attached to seeking medical help, he said.

"Last time, we saw very serious cases in the ICU, as patients came in late owing to the stigma and delayed testing," said Dr Amarnath, adding that the robust testing infrastructure has helped.

Health Commissioner Dr Trilok Chandra, who heads the Covid-19 Critical Care Support Unit, said though the number of patients in the ICU was increasing, the case fatality rate was under control. "People come in earlier. Increased testing is helping us treat them earlier as well. However, those who succumb to the illness, including patients with comorbidities, came in late," Dr Chandra said.

As of April 8, there are 357 patients in ICUs and the mortality rate is 1.22 per cent, the lowest since July 2020.

However, some experts have a different opinion on the matter. Dr Pradeep Rangappa, Consultant, Intensive Care Unit, Columbia Asia Hospital, who is also part of the tele-ICU team, said he had seen patients who were in worse condition in some districts and that it was only a matter of time before the state starts seeing more severe cases. He said it is too early to say the disease is less severe this time.

"Very sick patients are reporting to ICUs in Bengaluru and even in districts such as Hubballi, Hassan and Tumakuru, which is worrying. Their symptoms include shortness of breath, low oxygen saturation levels and high flow nasal cannula (HFNC)," said Dr Rangappa, adding that everyone needs to be on guard. He cited the example of his hospital where the ICU beds were full and they have to use the beds for non-Covid patients.

MIXED RESPONSE TO VAX AT WORK

Some firms get moving, others prefer to send employees to govt hospitals

A health worker vaccinates a woman in Banashankari on Friday

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

EVER since the State government announced that vaccination centres will be created in industrial and commercial units, there has been mixed response from industries.

While HR departments of some firms have started preparing a list of employees who are in the eligible age to be vaccinated, others are opting to wait and watch. They prefer employees going to designated hospitals instead of creating centres in their units. Many are also seeking clarifications from the government, whether their existing in-house doctors and nurses can vaccinate employees, instead of doctors from private hospitals.

Heads of industrial bodies have released circulars to all trade and industrial bodies and their members to adhere to the rules.

FICCI President Ullas Kamath said that so far, they are not aware of how many industrial and corporate bodies have tied up with hospitals to set up vaccination centres. He said SOPs are being issued to all units on how the vaccination should be done. Clarity from the government is also being obtained whether in-house medical staff can be used to vaccinate employees. He added that though corporate firms and employees are aware, some HR departments are referring to their database to list who is eligible to get vaccinated. Besides, there is the herd mentality behaviour -- if some members of a team get vaccinated, others feel they should also get the jab. There is no compulsion, but people should get vaccinated, Kamath added.

However, members of KASSIA are keen that employees take the vaccine at designated hospitals. "There are already many vaccination centres in and around Bengaluru, and the required number of people are not coming forward. So instead of opening centres in factories, where medical conditions could be compromised, it will be better if employees go the nearest centre and take the vaccine. This should be strictly followed," said KASSIA secretary N R Jagadish.

FKCCI President Perikal Sunder said that a circular was issued to all associated bodies and members to ensure that centres are set up to vaccinate employees.

Reacting to the issue, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said that creation of centres and using in-house medical practitioners is an issue which industries and partnering private hospitals will have to deal with. Setting up of centres in apartments and commercial spaces has already started -- on Friday, Infosys partnered with Manipal to create a vaccination centre for its employees.

Covid cluster at Seabird Naval base with 78 testing positive

Karjol tests positive

Deputy CM Govind Karjol tested positive for Covid-19 for the second time in seven months. He was admitted to Manipal Hospital on Old Airport Road on Thursday after being diagnosed with a sore throat and other symptoms. This is the second time that Karjol has tested positive. He was diagnosed with Covid last September.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Karwar

UTTARA Kannada district is witnessing a spike in Covid-19 cases, but the district administration says it is due to two clusters, including one in the Naval base, and hopes it can be brought under control.

At least 140 cases were reported on Thursday alone, while 29 new cases were added on Friday, Deputy Commissioner Mullai Muhilan said, adding that the situation is under control.

"The Navy has taken up some work in a place called Hidden Valley, and labourers from West Bengal, Odisha and other places are here. Some of them contracted Covid, which led to the spike. Of the 140 cases on Thursday, 78 are from Hidden Valley. They have been isolated in the same place," said Muhilan.

On the cluster of medical students who tested positive a couple of days ago, he said they are in quarantine in their hostels, while those who tested negative have been sent home.

"There is no need to fear, people should be alert and careful and should wear masks," he said, expressing confidence that the situation will be brought under control. He requested the people of Uttara Kannada to follow all SOPs until the Covid curve is flattened, and appealed to them to get themselves vaccinated.

Though the Karwar municipal staff is levying fines for not wearing masks, implementation has taken a beating. "We will issue fresh guidelines for dos and don'ts today," he added.

Quashing rumours after a video of a train from Mumbai packed with people leaving Victoria Terminus went viral, Divisional Railway Manager A K Verma said on Friday that there was no crowding, either inside the trains or stations of the Indian Railways. At a virtual news conference, Verma said, "There is no rush or overcrowding at railway stations or coaches as we are running adequate trains. A fake video has been posted on social media which shows that trains are overcrowded." The trains being run on Thursday and Friday have only 50% bookings as of now. "If the State wants us to run more trains, we are ready to do so but the ones being run are not fully utilised." ENS

CANCER SCREENING

I AM, AND I WILL

DR. NITI KRISHNA RAIZADA

Cancer Screening is testing for cancer most of whom will be without any symptoms. The aim of screening is to detect precancerous changes which if left untreated lead to cancer. Screening programs consequently also detect those with cancers but are not aware of the same, and they can benefit from early detection resulting in a possibility of a cure. Thus, screening is effective when it is well organized, covering large swathes of the population, repeated periodically and have a system for follow-up for effective treatment for those who have been found to have abnormalities. The tests which are used should be easy to carry out, and as its highly sensitive so that it does not miss detecting the possibility of cancer, the cost of the equipment should be affordable, portable, easy to maintain. Infrastructure and personnel to read / analyze the results in a timely fashion should be in place. Ideally the programs should run with Central planning and opportunistic occasional screening will not lead to desired results. Consequently, while planning for cancer screening, the commonly occurring cancers are targeted rather than the uncommon ones. Hence, screen for Cancers of the Breast, Cervix, Colo-rectal, Oro-pharyngeal and less often for Lung, prostate and ovaries.

Breast Cancer

While on the one hand public education for self-examination of the breast is encouraged, more so during the 20-30 years of age, the need for Mammogram annually is ideal after that. However, mass annual screening with Mammogram is a yet impractical for a country like India.

Other portable methods which are very sensitive are being incorporated. First among them is the ultrasound examination of the breast. While it is an excellent, low cost, portable test. Newer advances using piezo electric technology which tests for impedance and thereby pick up early lesions are proven to have high sensitivity of over 90%.

These are being rolled out in India by NGO's with some good outcomes. Several such equipment now abound, and they will probably become mainstay in the future as we combat this eminently curable cancer

Cancer Cervix

The Gold standard methodology remains PAP smear, but the rate limiting step is the study of these smears by trained pathologists. PAP smear is performed once in 3 years in women between 20-30 years and once in 5 years for women between 30-65r years. Cervix cancer screening by testing for Human Papilloma Virus (HPV) which causes this cancer & other tests (VIA, VILI) are known to complement but not comparable on their effectiveness for use alone.

Colorectal Cancer

Annual testing for occult blood in stools is the ideal screening test and should start by 40th year of age. Occult means what is not seen in naked eyes. Sigmoidoscopy should be performed once in 5 years and Colonoscopy once in 10 years as per the guidelines in India. These scopies need to be performed in hospitals by Gastroenterologists.

Lung cancer

Screening is usually recommended for individuals with history of smoking with low dose CT thorax every year after 55year of age with men/ women more than 30 pack years of smoking.

Prostate cancer

Screening involves digital rectal examination and a blood test known as Serum PSA test. Screening is done in certain subsets only.

New modality of screening includes genetic screening which involves genetic panel mutation tests which look for any mutations in genes which have potential to cause cancer. This is done for individuals with personal or family history of cancer, cancer at an early age, or individuals who belong to ethnicity which has higher cancer incidence. Certain genetic mutations which run in family other than BRCA include PTEN, APC, TP53 etc.

Active participation of health authorities trained medical professionals and general public is the key to successful screening program along with political will, good infrastructure, and education among masses.

So, the emphasis is on, 'I am, and I will'. Which means that our commitment to act will lead to powerful progress in reducing the global impact of cancer. We need to create a Cancer Free World; it is within our capability and we owe it to our people.

To squeeze transport staff, Govt lets pvt players loose

Over 26K private vehicles made to run on govt routes on Friday

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

Date (2021)	Number of drivers	Number of conductors	Number of KSTRC buses	Number of pvt buses
April 7	-	-	142	11,335
April 8	689	541	255	26,271
April 9	918	716	459	26,640

WHILE the transport corporation employees have gone on an indefinite strike, the State Government has taken measures to reduce inconvenience to thousands of commuters and is encouraging private players to ply vehicles on government bus routes.

As it is a second Saturday today and with Ugadi and Ambedkar Jayanti on Tuesday and Wednesday, there has been a huge demand for public transport buses across the state.

Government sources said over Thursday and Friday, 669 and 918 transport corporation drivers turned up for work. On Wednesday, the government allowed 11,335 private vehicles to run, on Thursday, it went up to 26,271 vehicles and on Friday, there was a further increase to 26,640 buses. The government has been asking more private players to run their vehicles to reduce the crippling effect of the strike on hapless people.

Government sources said that in Bengaluru alone, they used 519 private vehicles and buses, and they want to increase the numbers. In Bengaluru Rural, 970 private vehicles were made to ply. The highest number of private vehicles were used in Bidar district as 4,180 buses hit the road.

In Belagavi, the transport department got the services of 310 vehicles and it has been pressurising the district administration to increase the numbers.

In Ballari, 642 private vehicles were used, while in Chikkamagaluru, 2,655 private vehicles hit the road on Friday. In Chikkaballapur, the government managed 2,068 vehicles and most of these were pressed to connect daily commuters to Bengaluru. In Hassan, 1,000 such vehicles were put into service, and in Kodagu the department managed to get the services of 2,125 vehicles, which is a large number, considering that it is a tiny district. There was the least number of complaints from commuters here, the sources said.

In Vijayapura, 2,470 private vehicles plied on Friday, and there is pressure from commuters to increase the numbers as it is a large district. In Tumakuru and Ramanagaram, from where a large number of people travel to Bengaluru considering the proximity to the capital, 1,065 and 1,177 private vehicles were organised.

The State Government has refused to give in to the demands of transport employees, saying it has met eight out of 10 of their demands, and despite the Covid situation, it has considered giving an eight per cent hike in their salaries.

Driver commits suicide in Belagavi dist

Belagavi: At a time when transport department employees are on a strike since Wednesday, a driver-cum-conductor hanged himself on Friday in Belagavi district, from where Deputy Chief Minister and Transport Minister Laxman Savadi hails. The deceased, Shivakumar Neelgar (40), was attached to the Savadatti depot and had served the department for over 12 years, sources said. He committed suicide at his village, Ugargol, in Saundatti taluk. It is said that he had taken a loan of Rs 6 lakh from a nationalised bank, but was unable to clear the dues. Commenting on the suicide, KPCC president D K Shivakumar slammed the state government for failing to respond to the large number of protesting employees. Meanwhile, the transport department clarified that the driver had suffered a heart attack and did not commit suicide, as was being falsely circulated. Complaints were also registered against miscreants for spreading fake news about the incident.

Labour dept bans strike; officials file cases against staff over 'fake news'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Policemen keep vigil at Banashankari bus stand in Bengaluru on Friday | MEGHANA SASTRY

THE labour department on Friday issued an order banning the strike called by the various unions of the four transport corporations, under the Industrial Disputes Act. The additional commissioner, labour department, informed the Labour Tribunal of this decision.

A senior transport official said the strike now stands illegal, and RTC employees will have to resume work, failing which action can be taken. The order noted that the government had declared that BMTC and the RTCs come under essential services. While the Essential Services Maintenance Act (ESMA) has not been invoked, action has not yet been taken against the employees, but if the strike does not end soon, the government will be left with no option, the official said.

Transport officials also approached cyber crime police and filed FIRs against the striking employees for threatening those reporting to duty. They said this was done based on complaints from drivers who returned to work on Friday evening.

Complaints were also registered against miscreants for spreading fake news of a driver from Chikkaballapur dying on duty, and for circulating fake videos.

The department also announced that retired drivers and conductors aged below 62 years, and those who had passed the exam to join service, but could not because of the quota system, are being called for work. "We have asked them to report to work. They will work on temporary basis, but will be inducted after a thorough medical examination," the official said.

Meanwhile, Transport Minister Laxman Savadi once again appealed to unions to end their strike. "The strike is unlawful and illegal. It has become an attitude of a few people. The government is ready to give 8 per cent hike in salaries, but only after clearance from the Election Commission. The 6th Pay Commission cannot be implemented," he told the unions.

The unions, however, refused to budge and said the government must give them wages as per their demand, failing which the strike will continue.

The department is incurring a loss of Rs 17-20 crore every day, across the four corporations, an official statement said. Eight buses were also damaged.

KSRTC transferred 244 drivers and conductors, five traffic supervisory staff, 34 mechanical staff and nine other staff. BMTC dismissed 60 trainee and 60 probationary employees from service.

FRIDAY FLEET

- In all, 855 RTC buses operated
- 1,791 private buses operated for NWSRTC, 2,971 for NEKSRTC and 5,339 for KSRTC
- State transport union buses operating from Bengaluru: 529 to Tamil Nadu, 342 to Andhra Pradesh, 32 to Telangana and 35 to Kerala

Can't meet demand, return to work now: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WITH a strike by transport corporation employees entering the third day on Friday, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa reiterated the government's stand that it is not possible to consider their demand and asked them to return to work immediately.

"They must understand the government's financial position. Under the present circumstances, it is not possible to implement their demand of increasing salaries as recommended by the 6th Pay Commission," he told reporters here.

The State Government has agreed to an 8 per cent pay hike, but the protesters are not budging from their demand.

Yediyurappa said that the transport employees should not be adamant when they know that the government cannot consider their demands. Despite the resurgence Covid and the transport department being in the red, the government has allocated Rs 2,300 crore from the state exchequer towards their salaries, he added.

"Eight out of the nine demands were fulfilled and if there are any shortcomings in that, the government will take corrective action," he said.

Explaining the state's financial position, he said that 85 per cent of its revenue is spent on salary, pension and other expenditure.

"Even opposition leader Siddaramaiah had said in the Assembly that the government is not even left with 15 per cent funds for development works," he pointed out.

Hassan to be venue of BJP top panel meetings

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

BOTH the BJP's Core Committee and State Executive Committee meetings will be held in Vokkaliga stronghold of Hassan. While the Core Committee is scheduled to meet on April 18, the State Executive will hold meetings on April 18 and 19, party sources told The New Indian Express.

The number of participants at both meets has been reduced because of the Covid situation. At the State Executive, though originally around 330-plus party leaders and workers were to participate, it has been reduced to just about 180, leaving out district general secretaries, who number about three per district.

The State Executive may hold workshops for gram panchayat members who were recently elected with BJP support, and will also discuss the upcoming zilla and taluk panchayat elections. Excise Minister K Gopalaiah — a Vokkaliga, who shifted from JDS to BJP, has been given the task of organising the events.

The original plan was to hold the State Executive in Kalaburagi on April 19, but was dropped as the day time temperature in the city hits over 40 degrees Celsius and also because the model code of conduct will be in place due to bypolls to Basavkalyan and Maski Assembly constituencies.

Asked about the intent of the party in holding the meetings in Vokkaliga heartland, sources said that party state unit president Nalin Kumar Kateel has decided to hold the meetings in different districts, and this time it was the turn of Hassan. Already, the meetings have been held in Mangaluru, Shivamogga and Belagavi.

Party office-bearers, BJP Morcha representatives, divisional heads and the core committee members will be part of the meeting.

Party spokesman Ganesh Karnik said, "The party's organisational activities over the past three months and the schedule for the next three months too will be discussed.''

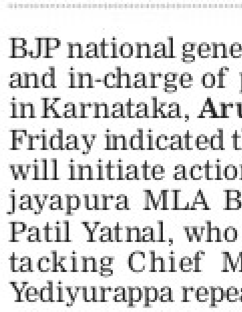
Arun Singh hints at action against Yatnal

ENS @Belagavi

BJP national general secretary and in-charge of party affairs in Karnataka, Arun Singh, on Friday indicated that the party will initiate action against Vijayapura MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, who has been attacking Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa repeatedly.



But Singh did not say what action would be taken against Patil and whether he would be expelled. "Less said the better about Yatnal. If Yatnal is expelled now, he will become an independent and may have other plans,'' Singh here on Friday.

Claiming that BJP candidate for the Belagavi Lok Sabha seat Mangala Angadi will register a landslide victory. Criticising Congress candidate Satish Jarkiholi for his attempts to debunk traditions and religious rituals, he said it is an insult to Indian culture and tradition.

Govt to rejuvenate 1,000 Kalyanis

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

AS many as a thousand Kalyanis -- step tanks -- across the State that are in bad shape will be taken up for revival this financial year by the Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Department under the Jal Shakti Abhiyan and MNREGA. This is the highest number of Kalyanis taken up for rejuvenation in a financial year.

The initiative, a part of the national Jal Shakti Abhiyan that aims at finding solutions to drinking water problems, was launched in Hubballi. It focuses on rejuvenating local tanks, reviving Kalyanis, constructing rainwater harvesting structures, digging soak pits and more.

From April till November, the department is planning to revive 4,500 lakes and tanks, 1,000 Kalyanis, 40,000 krishi hondas, 90,000 bunds, one lakh soak pits, 8,000 check dams and 4,000 rainwater water harvesting structures.

Though other projects have been taken up earlier, this is the first time that a thousand Kalyanis have been brought under the rejuvenation project. The majority of these Kalyanis are located near temples, and constructed many years ago. Over time, they have been rendered useless with water sources drying up and weeds covering these step tanks.

In Hubballi, RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa said that the government will rejuvenate over three lakh water bodies in the next 100 days, spending Rs 4,310 crore.

Launching the Jal Shakti Abhiyan, he said, "The programme will continue in the state till November 30."

Union Minister Pralhad Joshi said that the Central Government is spending Rs 3.6 lakh crore under the programme. The Centre has a plant to providing tap water to 18.5 crore houses by 2024.

RDPR Principal Secretary LK Ateeq told The New Indian Express that they have chosen Kalyanis in villages and near temples. "In the last financial year we revived 161 Kalyanis and this year, we are targeting a thousand,'' he said.

Environmentalist AN Yellappa Reddy said many tanks and Kalyanis in Karnataka date back to 15th century. No cement or steel has been used in these structures, and they were built using the geomembrane technology with clay and silt. Still, they can hold water for many years. But over the years, these water bodies have been encroached. "If they are reviving Kalyanis, they should not limit their work to removal of silt. They should rejuvenate the natural stream area. Government should consider declaring these places as protected areas,"' he added.

Corona curfew in 7 cities from tonight

MG CHETAN @Bengaluru

THE State Government has issued an official order on the 'Corona Curfew' from 10 pm till 5 am that will come into effect in seven cities in the state from Saturday night. The order prohibits movement of people, barring those in need of medical help, passengers leaving/arriving in the night and staff of essential services.

The curfew, aimed at containing the spread of the pandemic, will be in effect in Bengaluru, Mysuru, Mangaluru, Udupi-Manipal, Bidar, Kalaburagi, and Tumakuru cities. All movements and activities, excluding the operation of medical and emergency services, hospital visits for emergency treatment by patients accompanied by caretakers, movement of vehicles used for essential services and transport of goods including empty vehicles, are prohibited.

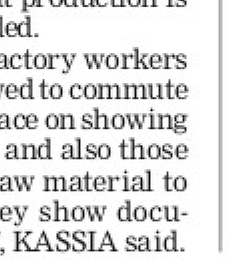
People arriving or leaving these cities during the curfew hours can transport in any mode, but will have to produce travel documents like tickets. Factories, companies and establishments working in the night shift are allowed to operate and their employees should reach the workplace before 10 pm and leave only after 5 am.

Those who violate the instructions will be prosecuted under provisions of the Disaster Management Act 2005, Karnataka Epidemic Diseases Act 2020, and Section 188 of IPC.

The police department has geared up for the strict enforcement of the curfew. Bengaluru Police Commissioner Kamal Pant, who also issued prohibitory orders for the night curfew under Section 144(1) of the CrPC, said the police will block the roads in the city to curb movement. Commercial establishments, like bars and pubs, which are open till late at night, have to ensure that they are shut and employees reach home before 10 pm.

No logic behind it, says DKS

Belagavi: Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee president D K Shivakumar on Friday hit out at the State and Central Governments for their handling of the Covid situation, saying night curfew will not help in tackling the virus spread. "The State Government is taking decisions erratically and without logic. It has failed to come up with right measures to face the crisis effectively," he told reporters in Belagavi on Friday. "I came to know that the government is planning to hold an all-party meeting. I really don't know why the government wants to have an all-party meeting at a time when it has already messed up handling the crisis," he added. The BJP government at the Centre has already aggravated the situation in the country, he said. "I demand that the government show how it spent Rs 16,000 crore during Covid and where it spent Rs 20 lakh crore, which it claimed to have released already," he added.



Allow industries to function: Trade bodies

ENS @Bengaluru

WITH night curfew set to kick in on Saturday, trade bodies have urged the State to ensure it will not put a spanner in the functioning of industries that are slowly recovering from last year's lockdown.

Industries in Karnataka are equally concerned about the second wave, but any steps the government takes to control the situation should be accompanied by steps that avoid putting a halt to the working of industries, said K B Arasappa, president, Karnataka Small Scale Industries Association. He said they have advised industries to change night shift timings to comply with the guidelines. "We are changing shift timings... to also ensure that production is not hit," he added.

Night shift factory workers should be allowed to commute to their workplace on showing their ID cards, and also those transporting raw material to factories if they show documents as proof, KASSIA said.

Consumer commission orders hospital, doctors to pay her compensation for negligence

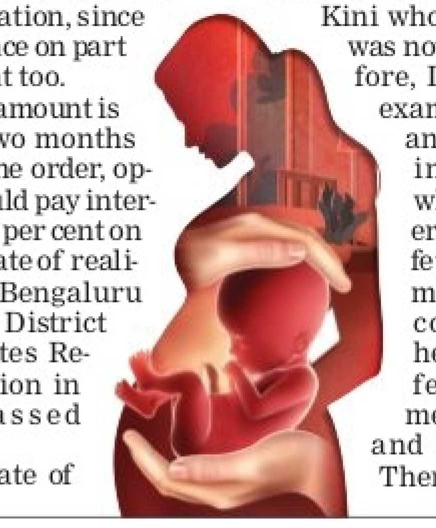
YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

A Consumer Commission directed Cloudnine Hospital in Jayanagar and two doctors to jointly bear the cost for a child's death in the womb due to negligence, by paying compensation to the mother.

Partly allowing the complaint filed by N Sunitha in 2013 from Rajajinagar, the commission directed Dr R Kishore Kumar, the then CEO and MD, Cloudnine, Jayanagar; Dr Prakash Kini, consultant obstetrician and gynaecologist; and Dr Shanthi Priya, obstetrician and gynaecologist, Cloudnine, to pay Rs 7 lakh compensation with litigation cost of Rs 10,000, and reimbursement of Rs 58,720 towards medical expenses to the woman.

Though she claimed Rs 15 lakh as compensation with interest at 18 per cent per annum, the commission has struck a balance by directing opposite parties to pay Rs 7 lakh compensation, since there was negligence on part of the complainant too.

"If the awarded amount is not paid within two months from the date of the order, opposite parties should pay interest at the rate of 12 per cent on Rs 7 lakh, till the date of realisation," said the Bengaluru Urban Additional District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission in the order passed recently.



The expected date of delivery was mentioned as August 14, 2012, but the complainant visited the hospital on August 9, 2012, after she experienced abdominal pain the previous night. But Dr Kini who was treating her was not available. Therefore, Dr Shanthi Priya examined her at Jayanagar branch and informed Dr Kini, who was at the other branch, that the fetal heart was normal. However, the complainant told her that she was not feeling the movement of the fetus and felt discomfort. Then, she was told to consult Dr Kini the next day. When she came the next day, however, the fetus was found dead in the womb prior to the examination by Dr Kini.

The hospital and doctors contended that the complaint be dismissed as it is false and frivolous and there was no negligence on their part. On this, the commission observed that Dr Kini and Dr Priya could have insisted that the complainant get admitted in the hospital on the first day itself. Even the complainant herself also never requested the doctors to admit her. Because of negligence on the part of both the parties, the untoward incident happened, the commission opined, while awarding compensation.

'Courts not experts in deciding degrees'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday held that courts are not expert bodies who can give a finding that a Bachelors degree in Engineering can be treated as equivalent to a Bachelor's degree in Science. The court said it is for expert bodies like the University Grants Commission to arrive at such a finding, as the qualification required for the post of 'Assistant' in the BWSSB was BSc.

The Supreme Court has held that the State, as a public employer, has to take into account social perspectives that require creation of job opportunities across societal structures, the court added. Setting aside the single judge's order, a division bench of Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty allowed the writ appeal filed by BWSSB, questioning the order passed by the single judge.

On September 3, 2020, the single judge had granted the prayer by S Ambarish Kumar and seven others to consider their candidature also, as they are BE graduates, and an engineering degree should be treated as a degree in science.

BWSSB had issued notifications on August 24, 2018, for Non Hyderabad-Karnataka area and Hyderabad-Karnataka area, inviting applications for various posts, including the post of 'Assistant'. The qualification prescribed was "a degree in Arts/Commerce/Science of a recognised University. One year duration Course in Computer Basics".

Ambarish Kumar and others had moved court, praying for a direction to BWSSB that their engineering degree be considered equivalent to Arts, Science or Commerce degree. Against this, BWSSB filed an appeal on the ground that a degree in Engineering cannot be treated as a degree in Science, as Engineering and Science are two different disciplines.

GHASI KRUSIKA a case study

"Education is the third eye of a child"

Prof. Achyuta Samanta, (Founder-KIIT & KISS)

KISS is the world's largest residential tribal University, home to thirty thousand indigenous students who are provided nutrition, holistic formal & vocational education from KG to PG absolutely free of cost. It was established in 1992-93 by renowned educationist & social activist Prof Dr. Achyuta Samanta. Further it is the embodiment of empowerment of the marginalized, underprivileged group of students who have become change agents for their communities by providing emancipation from acute poverty through education.

It is a fact that, we all have to lose something to gain some thing in life. This may be something or somebody dear or near to us. It will be apt if we follow the story of Ghasi Krusika, a student of KISS, who underwent the ups & downs of life to come out successful with determination, will power & faith in himself, all rekindled within him by KISS, the great temple of education. Ghasi was born to Sripati Krusika from Lalibari village in sikarpani Panchayat of Kalyansinghpur Block in the district of Rayagada. The village was situated in the foothills of a tall mountain range. It is a remote place with no communication. The village has no school. It consists of twenty-eight families of Kandha tribal community. Sripati maintained his family consisting of three children & wife with lot of difficulty by collecting forest produce from the nearby jungles. Though poor, Sripati understood the value of education. He wanted his sons get established in the society through education & make the village/parents proud. Accordingly he tried to provide primary education to his children in his in law's place.

Ghasi had lot of dreams. As days passed by, he was brought by his father to KISS, braving flood waters. But he was crestfallen not to find his son's name in the admission list to class- V. However Ghasi was admitted into KISS with the timely help from a renowned person of Kalyansinghpur.

Ghasi soon settled down in KISS & started his studies. Through his perseverance & will power he got over his initial homesickness & made good progress. He started dreaming of a new life. But as ill luck would have it, he lost his mother & became shattered. But he overcame his grief with the help of his teachers. Soon he started climbing the stairs of success & sharpened his inherent literary talents. As a result of which he was awarded with "Junior Fakirmohon" title by the reputed daily "Sambad". He was felicitated at the school & received the blessings of Prof. Samanta. He tasted the flavour of success & never looked back. Consequently he was promoted to class-VIII & participated in Red Cross Society of India. Jointly he was adjudged second best at the national level & brought laurels for KISS. Thirst for knowledge opened new opportunities for him & he got the advantage of learning computer & vocational courses at KISS. He has also underwent the English Access Micro Scholarship Programmer course. At this juncture his father passed away when he was in class-IX. Though he became an orphan, he continued his journey striving for excellence. His faith in himself provided him with the opportunity for appearing at the Yes Programmer Examination of ASF.

Ghasi aspires to become a civil engineer & go abroad for higher studies in future. He has become the role model for the youth of his village & a change agent. His achievements has fired the imagination of his entire community to break the cycle of poverty & hope for a new life. Simultaneously while undergoing formal education, he is also promoting his unique culture & heritage & wants to keep his own identity intact.

Though he sometimes feels the absence of his parents, who have left this world, yet he thinks that he has achieved everything in life because of the handholding of KISS & its unique teaching methodology. He is marching forward being motivated by the father like figure of Prof. Samanta. It is for sure, had it not been for KISS, he would have been nowhere. Presently he is studying in +3 Science stream. Because of KISS, he has been able to create a new identity for himself in the world & hopes to do the same for many underprivileged children from his village. He wants to give back to the society, under the tutelage of Prof. Achyuta Samanta. KISS is his Life.

This case study is an apt example of continuous handholding of the marginalised tribal groups who face myriad challenges in their march towards joining the mainstream. In addition to providing holistic formal education, KISS helps her children to have a well round personality. The system teaches the students to become leaders for their communities, being taught multifaceted vocational training, covering a range of skills. KISS has implemented a unique " earn while you learn" programme to enable students to earn supplemental income. As a result of which the entrepreneurship spirit is developed & they become job providers instead of job seekers. This unique system if implemented pan India can ease the unemployment crisis to some extent.

Sustainable development has been at the core of KISS programmes since the very beginning. It is also shared by the students to have a vision for a world free from poverty, hunger and illiteracy.

Kannur murder: Second accused found dead

Crime Branch gets vital info regarding conspiracy behind killing; UDF leaders protest delay in arresting remaining accused

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kannur

EVEN as the Crime Branch (CB) launched its probe into the murder of Muslim League supporter Mansoor at Pullakkara near Panur, the second accused in the case was found dead in an uninhabited compound at Kalikkulamb near Nadapuram on Friday.

Thirty-five year old Ratheesh Kooloth, a CPM worker, was found hanging from a tree by local residents, who informed the police. Police squads from Chokli, Valayam and Nadapuram reached the spot and identified him as Ratheesh, who had absconded after Mansoor was reported dead on Wednesday early morning. Ratheesh was an employee at a welding shop at Parakkadavu.

Earlier in the day, the CB team led by DySP K Ismail reached the house of Mansoor around 10am and recorded the statement of his father Musthafa. The team then went to Thalassery Indira Gandhi Cooperative Hospital and recorded the statement of Muhasin, brother of Mansoor, who was injured in the attack by assailants.

It is learnt that the CB team, which checked the mobile phone of Shinos, the DYFI worker who was arrested on Wednesday, has got some vital information regarding the conspiracy behind the murder. The police checked the WhatsApp messages and reportedly found enough evidence regarding the gathering of weapons for the attack. Some of the messages sent to his friends were found deleted. The police also found some messages through which Shinos had communicated the information to many of the accused who had gone absconding.

Meanwhile, the UDF leaders have raised protest regarding the delay in arresting the remaining accused in the case.

Police personnel and civic workers at the remains of the library that was set on fire by miscreants, in Mysuru on Friday | EXPRESS

Mysuru library with 11K books torched

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

A 62-year-old daily wage worker's years of efforts was turned into ashes overnight when a library that he had set up, with a collection of over 11,000 books, was set ablaze by unidentified persons on Friday. The library had 3,000 copies of the Bhagavad Gita and over a thousand copies of the holy Quran and the Bible, among other reading material like books and newspapers.

To help inculcate reading habits among the people in his area and also encourage them to learn Kannada, Syed Isaaq had set up a public library in a shed-like structure inside a corporation park in Rajiv Nagar Stage II near Ammar Masjid. Every day, over 100-150 people would visit his library.

Isaaq had become a popular face among residents of Rajiv Nagar and Shanti Nagar in the city as he took up the bold step of setting up the library, giving free access to all residents in the region, since the last decade.

Deprived of education, Isaaq worked as a bonded labour before he became an Under Ground Drainage (UGD) cleaner and now does odd jobs to sustain his family.

"Around 4 am, a man residing next to the library informed me that there was fire inside. When I rushed there, which is just a stone's throw away from where I live, I could see the entire collection being reduced to ashes," said a teary-eyed Isaaq. But this has not dented his spirits. "I will not be cowed down by this act and I vow to rebuild the library from scratch," he said with a steely resolve.

Isaaq has now lodged a complaint with the Udayagiri police, who have filed an FIR under IPC Section 436 and are on the lookout for the culprits.

GOLD SMUGGLING

FIRs against officers a bid to derail probe: ED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

THE Enforcement Directorate on Friday informed the Kerala High Court that the FIRs registered against its investigating officer in the gold smuggling case was nothing but a vexatious attempt to interfere with the statutory functions of the agency. It also stated that Sandeep Nair, accused in the case, is making frivolous allegations on the advice of highly influential people with a malafide intention to derail the ongoing investigation.

According to the ED, Sandeep Nair has raised the allegation after being in prison for eight months. Whenever he was produced before the special court, he told the judge that he had no complaint against the investigation team.

"The Crime branch's sudden move to obtain permission from the Ernakulam Sessions Court for recording Sandeep's statement on March 31 without intimating the ED was against the law. It demonstrates the mala fides of the state police. Its hurry in recording his statement under Section 164 of CrPC before a magistrate also reveals its ulterior motive," the ED said.

The ED made the submission when the petition filed by it seeking to quash the two FIRs registered against its officers based on the audio clip of Swapna Suresh and the complaint filed by Sandeep Nair alleging that the ED officers had forced them to give statements against Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan in the gold smuggling case. The court reserved its judgment, but said it might pronounce the same on April 16.

MAHA MAY NEED 90K VIALS BY APRIL-END

IN Madhya Pradesh, there were reports about deaths of Covid patients due to lack of oxygen at government hospitals in Sagar, Ujjain and Khargone, though the state government denied it.

As for Remdesivir, Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray expects a demand in his state of 90,000 to 1 lakh vials by the end of April while the current stock is 50,000 to 60,000 vials. In Gujarat, cities like Ahmadabad had people lining up before the medical stores for Remdesivir, as the injection is in short supply. In Madhya Pradesh, Indore and Bhopal reported shortage of Remdesivir. Long queues outside pharmacies were seen in Indore's Dawa Bazar area for it. Sources said the MP government had ordered 20,000 vials of Remdesivir, but got only 2,000.

In Indore alone, the need is in the range of 5,000 to 7,000, but it received just 400 vials on Thursday. The state requires 10,000 to 13,000 vials daily.

As for Karnataka, while the official position was they were adequately stocked, sources said it is not available in most private hospitals and the drug is being sold on the black market for Rs 4,000.

However, Odisha, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh reported were comfortable with their Remdesivir stock position.

50 years on, war veteran waits for site

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI
@Kalaburagi

AN Indo-Pak war veteran has been fighting for the last 50 years to get the posession of a site that still remains on paper.

This is the story of 76-year-old Vasantrao Velakar who has been running from pillar to post, approaching many officials. He has warned of launching a fast unto death, if the authorities concerned continue to remain deaf towards his plea.

In 1969, when he was allotted a site (No: 138 /E) in the dimension of 50' X 50" (Survey No 19) at Badepur Extension Area on Sedam Road in the city, for Rs 1,400 a princely amount then, which he also paid later.

Post retirement, Velakar had also met the deputy commissioner and palike commissioner with a fervent appeal either to facilitate the possession of the site or to allot alternate site. Besides, memoranda were submitted to several other officials, that met with little or no response.

Recently, he wrote to the Palike commissioner to take necessary action as the matter is pending since over five decades. But neither Kalaburagi Mahanagara Palike nor district administration has not responded, Velakar alleged. A few days ago, he submitted his memoranda to the concerned officials.

Apply online for permit to shoot docu-films at archaeological sites

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TOURISM Minister C P Yogeshwar on Friday said permission for photography, film and documentary shooting in state archaeological sites can be applied online on the Seva Sindhu portal.

Speaking to media after holding a meeting with officials and other stakeholders, Yogeshwar said, "All the procedures, guidelines and restrictions will be the same. The only thing that has changed is that citizens need not get clearances from multiple agencies, but through a single window on the portal." He said clearance will be given within seven days, after the money is deposited. He asserted that the permissions were limited only to archaeological sites which are under the control and management of the state government. Those seeking permissions will have to ensure that they cause no damage to the site.

He also held a meeting with helicopter and helitourism firms. "Once Centre and state government gives the green signal and the routes are finalised and cleared, operations can start. The companies will have to use the existing government helipads for the services. Gradually, more of these will be created in other districts," he added.

Companies demanded that since there would be limited crowd in the first year, the GST be waived off. Yogeshwar said he will speak to the Central and state governments and inform them about it.

He informed that caravan tourism will start soon. "Provision will also be made to station caravans at airports so that passengers can take them directly from them," he added.

Mysore Sanjeev, convener, Project Jeeva Raksha, said this clearly indicates that some of the hospitals in Karnataka are leveraging the helplessness of the general public and indulging in profiteering. "There is a need for uniform rates for Covid treatment across all districts in Karnataka. The government should relax the eligibility criteria for enrolling under the Suvarna Arogya Suraksha Trust (government health insurance cover). There are several instances wherein a large number of Covid patients have had to pay over Rs 10 lakh towards hospitalisation. The family members had to borrow and also break their life's savings to meet the hospitalisation charges," Sanjeev pointed out.

He gave the example of average claim amount in some of the North-East states being as low as ₹28,500 in Meghalaya, ₹73,350 in Sikkim, ₹81,250 in Manipur, whereas in big states such as Maharashtra, the average claim is is ₹1.2 lakh, in Tamil Nadu ₹1.75 lakh, in Haryana ₹1.55 lakh and Karnataka ₹1.5 lakh.

"Ideally, there should not have been a difference of not more than 5-10 per cent. Shockingly, there is a 75-80 per cent difference in the average claim between districts in Karnataka. For instance, in Mysuru, the average reported claims is ₹1.07 lakh, whereas in Belagavi, Chitradurga and Vijayapura, it is ₹1.7 lakh, and in Yadgir, it is ₹1.84 lakh," Sanjeev added.

Despite the maximum number of claims being reported in Bengaluru, the claim amount is lower than some of the other districts.

FULL LOCKDOWN NOT FEASIBLE, MANDATORY VACCINATION NEEDED

Even as the debate over vaccine coverage heats up, a clear indication of the dire situation we are in came from outside. New Zealand has banned Indian travellers from its shores—others may follow suit—after 17 of the 23 new cases there turned out to be from here. The number seems a drop in the ocean, compared to what India is pushing inside its territory. On Friday, we reported 1.32 lakh fresh cases: the third lakh-plus day in a row. Since March 11, the daily tally of active cases has consistently overtaken single-day recoveries. With some 10 lakh active cases (the last it was like this was in September), India now tops the world charts in that department.

The spatially clustered nature of this alarming second wave—Maharashtra, Karnataka, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Punjab, Delhi, Gujarat—is making experts fear the presence of multiple new variants, symptomatically different and more infectious than the original. Without genome sequencing, there's no way to know which variant is causing the most damage. One of the premier institutes that could do this, NIMHANS, is cash-starved. Simultaneously, many states are also reporting vaccine shortage. Even if the jab offers an absolute guarantee of only a less severe infection, aggressive vaxxing combined with a prolonged lockdown has helped the UK reduce cases by 60%.

A lockdown may not be a feasible option for economically stressed India. So the way to go is mandatory, not voluntary, vaccination, proceeding along the cline of vulnerability till universal coverage is attained. To enable this, states should be allowed to procure on their own. Russia's Sputnik V may get authorisation soon. What the Centre must do forthwith is allow other vaccine brands in the queue, like Pfizer-Biotech, Moderna and J&J. Both the government and the people need to set their priorities right. The obsession with elections and religious festivals must give way to pragmatism.

CONTINUING DEATHS DUE TO TOXIC WATER

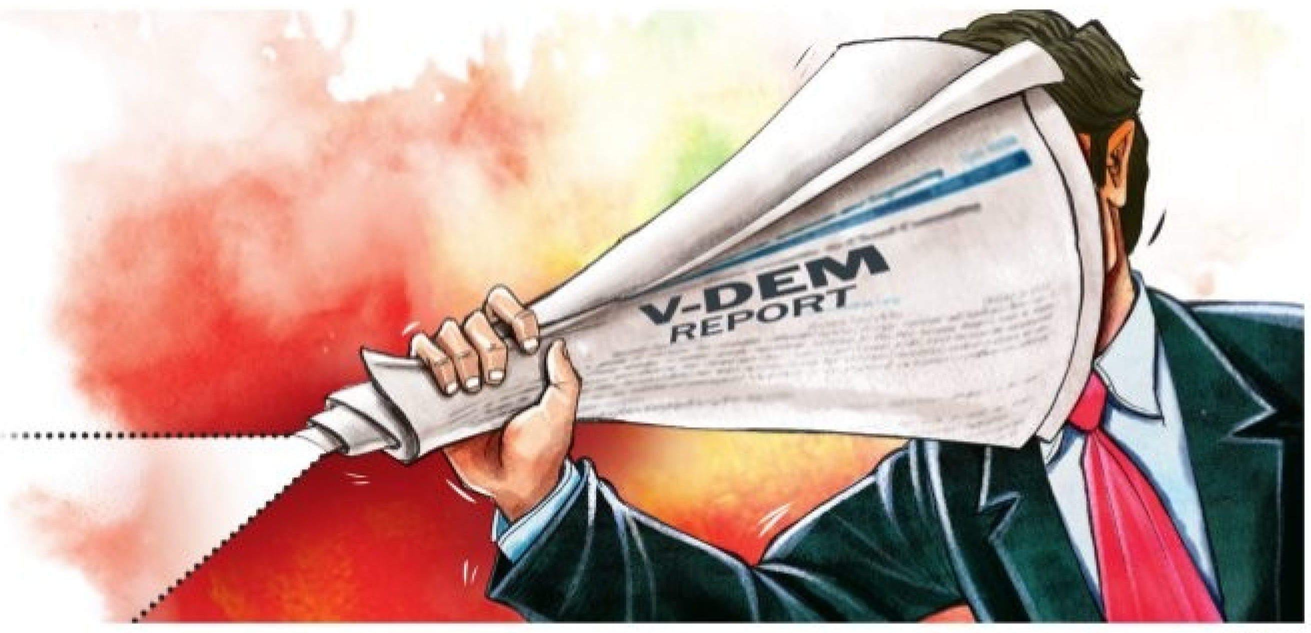
Reams and reams have been written over the last several decades on the tragedies caused by water contamination not only in Andhra Pradesh but also other states. For, they keep happening from time to time despite the launch of many 'development' works so well showcased in official presentations. The death of four people and the hospitalisation of almost 100 others in Kurnool district the other day is yet another grim reminder of this never-ending problem.

Officials are loath to admit water contamination as the cause though locals have been quite vocal in airing their concerns not just after the latest incident but for several years. A ground report published in this newspaper after the developments in Gorakallu village and Adoni in Kurnool district brought to the fore the bitter reality the people have been facing. The pipelines supplying drinking water are decades old, rusted and keep leaking. Whenever there's some problem, the local municipal or panchayat officials are forced to make do with minor repairs. They simply do not have the funds to replace the pipelines. This is the case not only in Kurnool but in all districts. Now that elections to municipalities and municipal corporations are over and elected representatives have replaced special officers, the onus is on them to focus on providing the citizens basic civic infrastructure and safe drinking water. That is the minimum expected of them. Their hands may be tied to an extent given the funds crunch in many corporations and municipalities. Nonetheless, it calls for optimum utilisation of resources and concerted action by the state and local authorities.

The 14th Finance Commission had granted ₹3,635 crore for municipalities in Andhra Pradesh. Of the amount, ₹500-odd crore is yet to be released by the Centre. Similarly, for reforms in urban local bodies, the state received the Union government's nod last December to mobilise ₹2,525 crore through market borrowings. Many municipalities and a few corporations do not even have water sewage treatment plants. It is high time to closely scrutinise this and bring transparency into utilisation of funds.

India is the world's largest and most vibrant democracy. Yet, it is placed below many countries that do not have the eight fundamentals required to be a full-fledged democracy

TIME TO CHALLENGE THIS FALSE NARRATIVE



AMIT BANDRE

A SURYA PRAKASH

Former Chairman, Prasar Bharati and Scholar, Democracy Studies

The Swedish agency V-Dem, attached to the University of Gothenburg that produces a democracy report every year, has once again downgraded India in its 2021 report. According to this institution, India was an "electoral democracy" in 2010 and it has now turned into an "electoral autocracy". This report makes some sweeping accusations against India. It questions the integrity of the electoral system in the country and says "freedom and fairness of elections was hard hit" when the Lok Sabha election was held in 2019, leading to downgrading of the country to an electoral autocracy.

This institute now says India is as autocratic as Pakistan, even though it is an Islamic Republic that constitutionally bars non-Muslims from holding the office of president and prime minister. Further, this report says India is worse than Bangladesh, which has Islam as the state religion.

The most objectionable part of this report is the question it has raised about the integrity of elections in India, with specific reference to the 2019 Lok Sabha election. Every Indian who values the country's Constitution and electoral history must condemn this conclusion because of the following reasons: one, this institute presumes that India is run by one party; two, that other parties do not matter. This is totally absurd because as many as 44 political parties are in power in 31 states and Union territories in the country, excluding the BJP. Parties like the Trinamool Congress (TMC), the Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS), the Biju Janata Dal (BJD) and the YSR Congress in Andhra Pradesh won a majority of the seats in their states in that election in 2019. The TMC and the BJD won 22 Lok Sabha seats each while the DMK picked up 23 and the TRS got 9. Further, after Narendra Modi became the prime minister in 2014, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) won 67 of the 70 seats in the Delhi Assembly, the Marxists won in Kerala, Mamata Bannerjee's TMC registered a massive victory in West Bengal and the Congress won the state Assembly elections convincingly in Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh, to name just a few of the states that voted against the BJP. Therefore, when someone questions the integrity of our election system, Indians must question the integrity of the institutions that are saying this.

Strangely, the V-Dem report claims that "freedom of association" is another thing that is slipping out of the hands of Indian citizens. The Freedom House Report on "Freedom in the World 2021" is also singing a similar tune. It says political rights and civil liberties are eroding in India. How can dozens of political parties, including Muslim parties that are opposed to the ruling BJP at the Centre, win handsome seats in state Assemblies and in Parliament if political rights are curbed? If you need further proof of how false this claim is, please visit the Ghazipur border near Delhi, where our farmers are asserting their political rights and civil liberties, and have blocked a major national highway for several months.

This year too, as in 2020, nations such as Denmark, Sweden and Norway are on top of the democracy index of V-Dem. So, the time has come to study the constitutions of these nations and see how they compare with India.

Apart from secularism, equality before law is absent in the constitutions of Denmark, Sweden and Norway. Also, they are not republics, where the head of state is elected

The Constitution of Denmark says the Evangelical Lutheran Church "shall be the established Church of Denmark" and supported by the state. Sweden's constitution ordains that the King shall always profess the pure evangelical faith and the prince or princess would need government permission to marry! Norway's constitution says the King "shall at all times profess the Evangelical-Lutheran Religion".

On the other hand, India, which has civilisationally been a secular nation and even has secularism embedded in the Preamble of its Constitution, is hardly a democracy according to this agency and is placed at number 97.

Apart from secularism, separation of religion and state and equality before law are all absent in the constitutions of these three nations. Also, they are not republics like India where the head of state is elected.

You can imagine the absurdity of the rating by this organisation when you find Maldives placed way ahead of India. The Constitution of Maldives says only a Muslim can be a citizen of that country. So, here again, there is no separation of religion and state (in fact, the state is wedded to religion) and there is no sign of secularism. Yet, it is supposedly a much better democracy than India!

Having examined the constitutions of nations that are supposedly better democracies than India, this writer is of the view that only those nations that have all the eight fundamentals listed below can be classified as full-fledged democracies. They are: an inviolable commitment to freedom of expression and freedom of conscience; an unambiguous commitment to secularism; separation of religion and state; republican form of government; right to equality before law (as in Article 14 of the Indian Constitution); right to life and personal liberty (as in Article 21 of the Indian Constitution); gender equality; and universal adult suffrage. We have all the eight elements, but many of the so-called "democracies" placed above India in these reports do not.

India is the world's largest and most vibrant democracy. India is also the most liberal and diverse society in the world. Therefore, the time has come for the citizens to become aware of their own constitutional strengths and treat these reports with the contempt that they deserve!

HOW VENKAYYA ETCHED HIS PLACE IN HISTORY

MADHUSUDHANAN KALAICHELVAN

Architect, serves on the govt-instituted panel for conservation of temples in TN

It was a warm noon in December 1886 when Dr Eugen Hultzsch, the acclaimed German Indologist and later epigraphist to the Madras government, decided to visit the Mamallapuram group of monuments. Fascinated by the rich edifices that the chisels and sharp eyes of the Pallava craftsman had created, Hultzsch was walking around the five rathas campus. Little did he realise that destiny was waiting to introduce him to a person who would eventually turn out to be his intellectual companion.

On the same day, Valaiyathur S Venkayya, a sharp 22-year-old gentleman well versed in many languages, had travelled to Mamallapuram to feed his appetite for Indian history. Venkayya, a graduate in physics who was then teaching in a school in Kanchipuram, was obviously interested when he saw Hultzsch copying the inscriptions. It would have been wonderful to watch the two bright minds with mutual appreciation for their scholarship and interests getting together. Venkayya, a scholar in his attitude and approach, had in him the potential to fulfil all requirements for becoming a successful paleographer and epigraphist.

Seeing a promising assistant with dedication and extraordinary talent in Venkayya, Hultzsch absorbed him into the department at once. After completing his course work for the academic year, Venkayya quit his teaching profession and joined the Bangalore office of the Archaeological Survey of India on 30 April 1887. In November 1887, Hultzsch was appointed as the government epigraphist along with his committed assistant Venkayya. As a prodigy and a disciplinarian, Venkayya was quick in grasping the subject matter and also excelled in field work. With a natural flair for Indian history and arts and due to his proficiency in Tamil and Sanskrit, Venkayya was tailor-made for the job of an epigraphist. The duo spent their next few years travelling around Tamil Nadu and visiting temples. The inscriptions copied from Mamallapuram and Kanchipuram are present in the first volume of South Indian Inscriptions published in 1890. Passionate about epigraphy, Venkayya used that as a tool to enrich his knowledge in history. Equipping himself through library visits squeezed in between his busy schedule, he earned a master's degree in history in 1889 from the University of Madras as the first rank holder. Thanks to his proficiency over South Indian languages, scientific approach to epigraphy and vast knowledge of South Indian history, Venkayya came in contact with several scholars in Indology and Sanskrit and this helped expand his horizons even further.

Hultzsch acknowledged the contributions of Venkayya thus: "For the Tamil inscriptions I was fortunate enough to have an able and efficient helpmate in my assistant, Mr. Venkayya, M.A." With this started the saga of annual publication of a series titled South Indian Inscriptions, with inscriptions copied, compiled and published in phases. These are still the go-to references for anyone interested in South Indian inscriptions.

Venkayya's experiences along with his guru Hultzsch by themselves are records that reflect 19th century South Indian society. Hultzsch should have in several occasions been thankful to Venkayya since the former was denied entry into many temples as ordained by the traditions. However, Venkayya's entry into the innermost corridors of the Tirumala temple was also denied and it needed the intervention of none less than Dr James Burgess, the then director general of ASI, who wrote to the chief secretary of Madras. One cannot but appreciate the determination of these stalwarts in such situations as the loss would have been huge had the inscriptions not been documented. An important challenge faced by them was vandalism of these ancient structures in the name of renovation. Hultzsch, in his correspondence about the renovation happening at Ekamranatha temple in Kanchipuram, says, "This is much to be regretted as both the shrine and the enclosures are covered with ancient inscriptions with such thick layer of chunnam that only a few letters are visible here and there and would have to be carefully cleaned before its inscriptions can be read and copied." He goes on to suggest numbering the stones before removing them, advice that is relevant to this day.

Venkayya and his mentor Hultzsch spent years travelling and visiting temples to copy and study the inscriptions there. The oft quoted Uthiramerur inscription elaborating the local body election process ten centuries ago is one of the many finds of Venkayya that has enriched our understanding of South Indian history

Mamallapuram and Kanchipuram were followed by Thanjavur in the second volume of South Indian Inscriptions. The oft quoted Uthiramerur inscription elaborating the local body election process ten centuries ago is Venkayya's find too (Democracy in Indian history, Uthiramerur and beyond, Feb 18). A detailed study of letters, notes and diary entries of Hultzsch throws light about his deep appreciation of his "first assistant" Venkayya. The Indian's untiring field work, impeccable reading of inscriptions and applied knowledge of history paved the way to understanding revenue surveys of Tamil country prior to 10th century, administration of criminal laws in 12th century, and the dates of Azhwar and Nayanmar saints, to name a few. On the contributions of Hultzsch and Venkayya, the great historian K A Nilakanta Sastri remarked, "Without them, South Indian history must have remained a sealed book."

After Hultzsch resigned from his post in 1903, Venkayya was appointed as the government epigraphist in Madras. Hundreds of thousands of inscriptions, tens of copper plates, successful attempts to figure out the genealogy of Pallavas, Cholas and Pandyas, tackling the Kalabhras puzzle, literally this man left no stone unturned. In recognition of his immense services to South Indian history, the title of Rai Bahadur was conferred on him in 1906 during the visit of George V. Soon in 1908-09, he was promoted as the chief epigraphist of the Government of India. He had to from then on play the dual role of attending to his offices at Simla and Madras. Involved in several path-breaking excavations, the constant monitoring of work in two different offices took a toll on his health. He fell ill and spent his last days at his posh bungalow, Venkayya Gardens in Mambalam, and breathed his last in the early hours of 21 November 1912 when he was only 48.

Described by John H Marshall, the then ASI director general, as "a heavy and irreparable loss", Venkayya's death was mourned by scholars around the world by remembering his sky-high contributions to the field of ancient history and epigraphy. "It is to be hoped that other young native graduates will follow on Mr Venkayya's lines and take up the neglected subject of South Indian Epigraphy", said Hultzsch, about the duty of the coming generations. A polymath in its true sense, Venkayya's pursuit for knowledge and zeal for imparting the same have made him immortal. Rai Bahadur Venkayya's name shall resonate till the time Indian history is studied.

Profound relief to family

The release of CoBRA commando Rakeshwar Singh Manhas by the Maoists who held him captive in the aftermath of the Bijapur ambush is welcome news. This must give profound relief to Manhas's family.

Permanent solution

It is good that the CRPF jawan was not harmed throughout his captivity. The mediators should be made use of to try and come up with a permanent solution for the Maoist problem.

Dr M Haneef, Kottayam

Compulsory voting?

The low voter turnout in Chennai in the just-concluded Tamil Nadu Assembly polls is a matter of concern. It is another reason to re-examine the idea of compulsory voting. It would result in a higher degree of political legitimacy.

Stirring the hornet's nest

The Ayodhya Ram Janmabhoomi issue seems almost settled, but disquieting attempts are being made to stir the hornet's nest by raking up the mosque-temple issue in Varanasi.

Access to good internet

This is with reference to Containing impact on education (Apr 9). To solve the issue of education during the pandemic, Tamil Nadu must ensure that students from weaker sections get access to high-speed internet services.

Strong connection needed

Often, interaction with teachers, analysing study material, etc., are dependent on good internet. Thus, good education should go hand in hand with a strong web connection in this crucial time.

Deplorable controversy

This is with reference to Not the time for political face-off over vaccination (Apr 9). Currently, India is deep in the throes of the second wave of Covid. Thus, the raging controversy over shortage of vaccines is deplorable.

Act with maturity

The blame game and vitriolic exchanges about the vaccine shortage between the opposition-ruled states and the Centre is only causing unnecessary confusion. The parties must act with maturity.

Multi-pronged role

This is with reference to China piqued as more adopt Indo-Pacific framework (Apr 9). India has a multi-pronged reason to play a significant role in the Indo-Pacific region. It must engage in both multilateral and minilateral approaches to enhance and project its stature.

It was not surprising that an AMMK man was booked for bribery in Kumbakonam. Perhaps action should also be taken against those who received the bribes.

Maha's April surge beats Sept peak

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

CORONAVIRUS cases this month in Maharashtra have almost doubled than the previous year's peak in September, and the experts say the worst is yet to come.

There are 53,46,003 active cases, 57,329 total deaths and 26,95,148 recoveries across the state. Last year in September, the highest number of positive cases was around 24,000 per day, while today these cases are surpassing the 50,000-mark daily. According to the state health department data, 79,368 active positive cases were reported in Mumbai in the first eight days of April against 34,259 positive cases in September the previous year. In Thane, this month has so far seen total active cases at 61,127 against 38,388 in September last year. In Pune, this month's tally of active positive cases is 84,309 against 30,330 in the previous year's peak in September.

The trend continues in Nasik, Nagpur and Aurangabad. State Health Minister Rajesh Tope said the second wave situation is grim. "In the first wave, there was strict lockdown, so we were able to successfully trace the people. Since the downward curve, we have opened everything, so it is very difficult to maintain tracing and testing. That's why the virus is spreading at a super speed without effective checking. People need to guard themselves," Tope said.

He said this time the authorities are facing a shortage of oxygen and life-saving drugs. "The Central government should extend all help and support," Tope added.

Nationalist Congress Party chief Sharad Pawar appealed to all sections to cooperate. "We were able to contain the virus and bring down the daily cases from 24,000 to 2000. The state government has again taken the bitter decision of lockdown, but it is the only means, as per health experts, to breaking the virus chain," said Pawar.

Rahul asks PM to halt vax exports, BJP takes potshot

NEW DELHI: Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday wrote to PM Narendra Modi, demanding an immediate moratorium on Covid-19 vaccine exports and opening up of the vaccination to "everyone who needs it", while Union minister Ravi Shankar Prasad hit out at him, claiming the shortage in the Congress-ruled states was not of vaccines but commitment.

In the letter, Gandhi sought more say to the state governments in vaccine procurement and distribution. He also asked for a provision of direct income support to the vulnerable sections amid the second wave of Covid-19 in India, as he extended his support to the vaccination drive. "I humbly request you to provide vaccine suppliers with necessary resources to increase manufacturing capacity and place an immediate moratorium on vaccine export," Gandhi said. "Open up vaccination to everyone who needs it," he demanded, seeking fast-tracking of approval of other vaccines as per norms.

Prasad took a potshot at the Congress leader, wondering "after failing as a part-time politician, has Gandhi switched to full-time lobbying". "First, he lobbied for fighter plane companies by trying to derail India's acquisition programme. Now, he is lobbying for pharma by asking for arbitrary approvals for foreign vaccines," tweeted Prasad.

"Rahul must know that shortage in the Congress-ruled states is not of vaccines but basic commitment towards healthcare. He should write letters to his party's governments to stop their vasooli ventures and concentrate on administering the vaccines they are sitting upon," added Prasad. ENS

10 states account for more than 83% of Covid cases

India registers record single-day surge of 1,31,968 cases, 780 deaths

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

OVER 83 per cent of the new Covid cases in the country were reported from 10 states, the Union Health Ministry said on Friday. Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh, Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, Karnataka, Kerala, Madhya Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Gujarat and Rajasthan accounted for 83.29 of new infections.

The country registered a record single-day surge of 1,31,968 cases on Friday taking the cumulative number of cases to 1,30,60,542.

There were 780 deaths recorded in the day with total toll rising to 1,67,642. There were new 61,899 recoveries, according to data shared on Friday.

The 12 states which showed an upward trajectory in daily new cases were Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh, Punjab, Karnataka, Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, Haryana, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Kerala.

The five states of Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh, Karnataka, Uttar Pradeshand Kerala cumulatively accounted for 73.24 per cent of India's total active cases. Maharashtra alone accounted for 53.84% of the total active caseload of the country.

At a high-level meeting of Group of Ministers (GoM) held by Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan on Friday, it was pointed out that India's seven-day case growth rate of 12.93 per cent was next to USA and Brazil.

Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan chaired the 24th meeting of the high-level Group of Ministers (GoM) on Covid-19 on Friday. During the meeting, it was pointed out that starting February, a steep increase in cases was observed in 11 states. While a majority of the cases were reported in the younger population in the age group of 15-44, a majority of the deaths were reported among the elderly population. A high-test positivity rate was noted in Maharashtra at 25 per cent and Chhattisgarh at 14 per cent.

The total number of Covid-19 vaccine doses administered so far was over 9.43 crore. Over 36 lakh doses were completed in a span of 24 hours, the government said.

Twelve states/UTs which did not report any Covid-19 deaths since Thursday were Rajasthan, Odisha, Puducherry, Ladakh (UT), D&D & D&N, Nagaland, Tripura, Sikkim, Mizoram, Lakshadweep, A&N Islands and Arunachal Pradesh, Also, no fresh Covid-19 case has been reported in 149 districts in a week, while eight have not registered any new infection in a fortnight, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan said on Friday.

Uddhav to hold all-party meet to discuss curbs

MUMBAI: Maharashtra CM Udhav Thackeray has called an all-party meeting on Saturday to discuss taking stringent measures to contain the pandemic.

According to the CMO, it has been decided to call an all-party meeting on Saturday, but the time of the meeting is yet to be fixed. "The leaders can join the meeting via video conference as well and it is not mandatory for them to be physically present," a source said adding that it will be a "crucial meeting". "Maharashtra government has taken measures like closing down non-essential shops and crowded places, but that is not helping to bring down the cases. The CM wants to take opposition parties in confidence before announcing more stringent measures or complete lockdown," a senior Shiv Sena leader said.

The Maha Vikas Aghadi leaders are putting a united face over "vaccine shortage" and other issues. While the Centre charged the MVA government of "vaccine mismanagement", the state ministers countered the criticism by "exposing" the Centre's claims. ENS

Persons above 18 years free to choose their religion, says SC

NEW DELHI: Observing that a person above the age of 18 years is free to choose a religion of his or her choice, the Supreme Court on Friday refused to entertain a PIL seeking directions to ban black magic, superstition and deceitful religious conversion.

"What kind of writ petition is this under Article 32. We will impose a heavy cost on you. You argue on your own risk," a bench headed by Justice Rohinton Fali Nariman told advocate Gopal Sankaranarayana, appearing for BJP leader Ashwini Upadhyay.

The bench said there is no reason why a person above 18 can't be allowed to choose his religion. It further told Sankaranarayana that "there is a reason why the word propagates is there in the Constitution". The bench observed that the PIL was like a "publicity interest litigation" and that there was no reason why a person above 18 can't choose his or her religion. Upadhyay had also sought directions to ascertain the feasibility of appointing a panel to enact a Conversion of Religion Act to check the abuse of religion.

"Religious conversion by 'carrot and stick' and by 'hook or crook' not only offends Articles 14, 21, 25 but is also against the principles of secularism, which is an integral part of the Constitution," the plea stated. "The Centre and states have failed to control the menace of black magic, superstition and deceitful religious conversion, though it's their duty under Article 51A," it said. ENS

Fishermen kin to get govt compensation

The Supreme Court on Friday asked the Centre to deposit the compensation amount in the registry and it will distribute the amount to the families to close the 2012 case against Italian Marines who had shot dead two Indian fishermen. The bench observed that the case against Italian marines will be closed after the compensation is deposited.

LAC: 'Fair hope' for some decision as Corps Commanders meet in Chushul

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

A meeting between the Corps Commanders of India and China to discuss further disengagement along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Ladakh went on till late Friday.

A senior Army officer said the meeting began at 10.30 am and was still going on and expected to go on till late night. "It is fair to have hope for some positive outcome," added the officer.

The Indian Army's 14 Corps Commander, Lt Gen PGK Menon, was scheduled to meet his Chinese counterpart Major General Lin Liu, Commander of South Xinjian Military District, on Friday in Chushul, on the Indian side of the LAC.

Once the meeting was fixed, Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said India would like to see disengagement in the remaining areas of friction. "This will provide us the atmosphere for improving bilateral ties," he had said.

The previous talk was held on February 19 at Moldo, on the Chinese side of the LAC, but had failed to break the stalemate. It was held immediately after the completion of disengagement on the north and south banks of Pangong Tso. Both sides had moved back their armoured vehicles which were as close as 50 metres from each other at some places. Also, the two sides had brought down the fortifications and defences made during the stand-off.

However, the stand-off continues at Depsang, Gogra, Hotspring, and in the Charding Ninglung Nallah track junction in the Demchok sector.

UK Indians complain to PM on 'inaction' in Samant case

NEW DELHI: Over 100 organisations of the Indian diaspora in the UK have written to UK PM Boris Johnson expressing concern over inaction against an Oxford faculty member for his alleged Hindu hatred and bigoted views against former Oxford University Students' Union (OUSU) president Rashmi Samant.

The letter, signed by around 119 organisations such as the Hindu Forum for Europe, Vishva Hindu Parishad UK, National Council of Hindu Temples, Friends of India Society International UK call for the suspension of Abhijit Sarkar till a thorough investigation is concluded in the matter. Samant, the first Indian woman to be elected president of the OUSU, was forced to resign amid controversy over some of her past social media posts.

"Dr Sarkar, a faculty member, instigated hate-filled trolls on social media against her which led her to go into hiding and finally leave the country. Dr Sarkar continued stalking her on social media, attacking her and her family for their Hindu faith which led her to severe depression and hospitalisation," it said. ENS

Terror outfit commander among 7 militants killed in Kashmir

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SEVEN militants, including chief commander of militant outfit Ansar Ghazwat ul Hind (AGH), were killed in two separate encounters with security forces in Kashmir on Friday.

GoC (Victor Force) Major General Rashim Bali said a joint contingent of police, CRPF and the army launched an operation after receiving a tip-off that some militants had taken refuge inside a mosque in Shopian. "In view of sensitivity, we sent a local cleric and the relatives of a militant to persuade them to surrender. However, the militants fired towards the troops and in the ensuing gunfight, five of them were killed," the army officer said. IGP Kashmir Vijay Kumar said all slain militants were locals. The IGP further said while operation in Shopian was going on, they received information that AGH chief Imtiyaz Shah was in the same area. "... However, he managed to escape. Our troops then launched a search operation in Tral on Friday morning," he said. During the operation, two militants, including AGH chief Imtiyaz Shah, were killed. Meanwhile, GoC of Srinagar-based Army's 15 Corps, Lt Gen D P Pandey issued a warning to militants, saying whoever takes arms will be neutralised.

In another incident, militants shot dead a Territorial Army jawan Mohammad Saleem Akhoon at Bijbehara of Anantnag district.

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Friday refused to entertain a plea seeking direction for investigation by an independent probe agency like CBI into the March 10 incident where West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee sustained a leg injury after an alleged attack in Nandigram. In north Bengal, TMC hopes to cash in on split in Rajbangshi votes BJP got in 2019 LS polls

PRANAB MONDAL
@Cooch Behar/Alipurduar

SITTING on a wooden chair in his small book store, Surojit Dey was looking at the BJP roadshow marching along the arterial road of Alipurduar. The small town in north Bengal never experienced such an election extravaganza — thousands of people, lines of decorated vehicles and dozens of musical bands. The crowd continued roaring 'Jai Shri Ram'.

"Look at the faces. They represent all segments of our society — college students, government employees, daily wage workers. Most of them are Dalits who used to be the strength of our party five years ago,'' said Surojit, a TMC worker.

The narrative in the two north Bengal districts adjoining Assam — Cooch Behar and Alipurduar comprising 14 Assembly seats which are going to feel the poll heat on Saturday — is centred around Dalits. Voters from the backward classes shifted allegiance en bloc to BJP in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls which caused panic in TMC ranks after the results. "Dalits decide the fate of parties in at least 20 constituencies in north Bengal,'' said Surojit.

About half of Cooch Behar's population belongs to SCs. In Alipurduar, 48 per cent are Scheduled Tribes and 20 per cent SCs. Among the SCs, more than 35 per cent are Rajbangsi, the prime target of all parties.

When BJP is promising to set up a battalion in para-military force comprising Rajbangshis, TMC, armed with an RTI document, is labelling the promise as a trick to hoodwink Dalits.

Prasenjit Roy, a school teacher in Cooch Behar and CPI(M) leader, said BJP and TMC are leaving no stone unturned to please the Rajbangshi community. "In 2016, TMC enjoyed the support of this community, but in 2019 the party bled here because of the shift in Rajbangshi votes. TMC did not allow hundreds of candidates to file nominations in the 2018 panchayat elections and that became a factor," he said.

Roy admits that his party had encouraged its supporters to vote for BJP in 2019 to teach TMC a lesson. Now, it finds it difficult to bring the vote bank back despite the alliance between CPI(M) and Congress. "It turned out to be a wrong move. We paved the way for a party which never imagined doing well in north Bengal."

In the 2016 Assembly elections, TMC had bagged 12 out of 14 seats in this region. After three years, BJP secured lead in 12 of those. With BJP desperate to secure Rajbangshi votes, Mamata Banerjee is banking on a split in the community.

In February, before visiting Cooch Behar, Amit Shah had gone to the residence of Ananta Rai, a self-styled Maharaja of the district who belongs to the Rajbangshi community and has been living in Assam since August 2020.

Rai leads a faction of the Greater Cooch Behar People's Association (GCPA), which has a history of leading movements often using violence to secure its goals, and seeks to carve out of the district of Cooch Behar and some adjoining areas of West Bengal and Assam to establish a state of Greater Cooch Behar.

While addressing a rally, Shah promised that a battalion in paramilitary forces would be named Narayani Sena and a training centre would be named after Chila Rai, legendary general of the Narayani dynasty army of the 16th century. BJP had made this promise before 2019 Lok Sabha elections also and members of the community overwhelmingly voted for them. Shah's announcement was slightly short of expectations, considering that the Rajbangshis have for long demanding a Narayani regiment in Indian Army.

Souvik De Sarkar, a school teacher in Alipurduar, said TMC did not miss the opportunity to brand BJP a party that makes false promises. "The chief minister displayed an RTI document where MHA said it did not receive any proposal of creating a Narayani Sena battalion in the paramilitary force and she announced the creation of a Narayani battalion in the state police."

TMC is trying its best to exploit this crack in GCPA by bringing some of them into its fold. "It seems Mamata won over a section of the community by taking Bangshi Badan Barman, leader of another GCPA faction, into confidence," said De Sarkar.

Barman said BJP fooled the people of Cooch Behar and he and his followers highlighted it during campaigning this time around. He cited the formation of a battalion in the state force, creation of a Rajbangshi development board and Rajbangshi (language) academy, approval of 200 Rajbangshi-medium primary schools and state holiday on the birth anniversary of Panchanan Barma (icon of the community) among the steps Mamata has taken for the upliftment of the community.

Sensing a fight, BJP has fielded sitting MP Nisith Pramanik from the Cooch Behar Assembly seat. "Dalits in this region are in our favour. TMC's efforts to use factionalism among the Rajbangshis will not work,'' Pramanik said.

CODE VIOLATION

EC issues 2nd notice, Didi says don't care

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi/Kolkata

WEST Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee has been asked to explain comments during her election campaign, where she allegedly accused central security forces of working under instructions of Home Minister Amit Shah. She has been asked to reply by 11 am Saturday.

This is the second notice to Mamata in the last few of days. On Wednesday, EC had issued her a notice over alleged appeal for votes along communal lines, saying it was in violation of the model code and the Representation of the People Act.

The EC took strong objection of Mamata's comments while sending the second notice. It said her remarks were "prima facie, completely false, provocative and intemperate statements... (It) attempts to berate and vilify central paramilitary forces during electoral process are causing extreme demoralisation amongst ranks and file of these forces, who have been rendering a yeoman's service since late 80s elections after elections and have made a commendable contribution, especially in ensuring area domination and causing deterrence for anti-social hooligans by their presence," the notice read.

On a campaign trail at Jamalpur in Bardhaman district, Mamata repeated her accusation. "I will continue speaking about CPRF until they stop working for BJP. Once they stop doing that, I will salute them. I do not care about your (EC's) showcause letters. You are working at the behest of BJP. I wonder why there is no violation when the PM campaigns on polling days."

Shah vs Mamata

Campaigning in Kolkata, Shah hit back at the TMC chief. He said Mamata's comments against central forces betrayed frustration over her impending defeat. "TMC's frustration is evident from her speeches. I have never seen a chief minister or the president of a political party use the kind of words Mamata Banerjee is using against central forces. Is she trying to create anarchy? She should know that central forces do not function under the home ministry during elections. They function under the Election Commission," Shah said.

Mamata was relentless. Speaking at another rally, she claimed that Shah was trying to spark a riot in the state. "I have not seen such a gunda, dangabaaz (rioteer) home minister in my life. Shah is more dangerous than a tiger. People fear to talk to him. I will urge Narendra Modi to control Shah first. He is inciting riots here."

OR any hope of getting one anytime soon. They debate over what 'Buddhababu' wanted to do for West Bengal and could not. "Nobody thought about it quite the same way. If he had succeeded, none of us would have been unemployed, more industry would have come...rajya kothai pouchhe jeto (what heights the state would have scaled!)." From the Nano factory shifting to Sanand, Gujarat, becoming part of the triumphal lore around Narendra Modi, to him now coming to wrest Bengal as PM, irony has come a full circle.

All in their mid and late 20s, Simanta Das, Arjun Ghosh, Sudip and Shankar Pal, must've been in high school or college when the Left Front lost power. But Buddhadeb and the Singur-Nandigram fiasco is still a discussion point in their casual afternoon conversations.

Does that mean the Sanjukta Morcha candidate has a winning chance? They're not quite sure, except maybe in certain pockets. Buddhadeb, however, is a figure of underlying nostalgia, even though neither the Left nor the Morcha (Congress-Left-ISF alliance) is mining it.

In Bankura district, in South 24 Parganas, Burdwan or Howrah, as well as up north, the Morcha claims it will post surprising results, particularly in the rural seats. But nowhere have they been tapping that old sentiment. The CPI-M, the main Left constituent, has gone ahead with a 'new experiment'. Just like in Kerala, it has fielded several young articulate faces here who can talk about the 'real issues' with passion — unemployment, livelihood, privatisation, rising prices, tumbling economy, farm laws, the perils of caste and communal politics in a state like Bengal which has known the nightmare of riots, particularly on the cusp of Independence.

They are quite a visible, audible presence. Start from Nandigram (Meenakshi Mukherjee), and go on to Singur (Srijan Bhattacharya), Bally (Dipsita Dhar), Jamuria (Aishe Ghosh), Kamarhati (Sayandip Mitra), Diamond Harbour (Pratikur Rehman), Rajarhat Newtown (Saptarshi Deb), Kasba (Shatarup Ghosh), Burdwan Dakshin (Pritha Tah) — some of the seats already polled. There are those who feel, citing their youth, that they would need grooming to learn the ropes of electoral politics. "It's a gamble that may pay off five-seven years down the line, when the levers of the state CPI(M) will have to pass on from the ageing leadership," says a Left sympathiser, referring to the old warhorses Biman Bose and Surja Kanta Mishra.

The support for the Left in colleges and university campuses — from JNU to Jadavpur here — and among a section of the youth in general has come as a breather for that ageing Left leadership, often called the 'geriatric club' in jest.

"This one move is expected to sustain the party in the coming years, it's a much-needed infusion of young blood," says Nilanjan Dutta, who's followed Left politics in the state with academic interest. Dipsita Dhar, CPI(M) candidate in Bally, Howrah (a district where BJP hopes to do well), affirms that: "Working for strengthening the organisation, standing by the people, the farmers in their struggle, is of prime importance." When camp-switching is the sort of thing that makes headlines, that's a kind of throwback line.

In Santiniketan, Birbhum, Subas Sen is no Left activist. He's attached to the boutique business, and openly nurses a grouse against the TMC's "autocratic local neta", but yet is slightly uncomfortable with the BJP's "Hindutva-cum pro-big business agenda". Sen laments about Buddhadeb's "failed industrialisation". It has left many like him bitter. "Politics is no place for bhadralok. Buddhababu is an example of that. If he had acted like Amit Shah, the state's industrialisation wouldn't have been stalled. There would have been jobs for the youth, ancillary units, what not," he says.

Miles away, in Deganga Assembly constituency of North 24 Parganas, the Forward Bloc's party festoons surprise young driver Choton. So much so that he parks his sedan to find out which "new party" the symbol belongs to! The familiarity with the Forward Bloc flag has obviously waned in the last 10 years. "Oh! Left Front's Forward Bloc," he exclaims, a tad embarrassed. He hastens to cover up, and again that refrain: "Buddhababu is a good man, he tried to do something."

In the minority-dominated areas of Deganga, they assert their "vote is for Didi" and "jamait (gathering) for Bhai Jaan", that is, Abbas Siddiqui of the Indian Secular Front, part of the Left-Congress alliance. TMC candidate Rahima Mandol, who defeated the FB candidate in the previous election, is pitted against the BJP's Dipika Chatterjee this time. The newly floated ISF of 'Abbas Baba' has fielded Karim Ali. Deganga is part of the Barasat Lok Sabha constituency, represented by the TMC's rather popular MP, Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar.

The Left's tie-up with the Furfura Sharif cleric Abbas Siddiqui is turning out to be a double-edged sword. The idea was to win back the atraf or azlaf votes — the Muslim peasantry — which went over to TMC in 2011, partly out of fear of Buddhadeb's land acquisition policy. Traditional Left voters are reacting to the alliance with a Muslim cleric, they see it as a regressive, anti-secular step. The younger campus returnees, however, see it as extending support to a budding Muslim-Dalit politics. One of the Left leaders claimed, "With us, he'll remain true to the 'secular' tag of his party."

In Purbo Burdwan, once a Left bastion, the fight on the surface is only a TMC-BJP one. Here, a group of young Left supporters are holding an artisanal fair to create an ambience, and convince rural voters of the need to regain lost ground. Here again, 'Buddhada' is remembered.

Even more surprisingly, top business leaders in Kolkata, in their private conversations, hark back to the 'lost opportunity' created by Buddhababu's vision. "It's unfortunate that neither his party nor his central leadership supported him. He was sabotaged from within and pilloried from outside," one of them says. None of them are ready to go on record with their political views, given the divisive tenor of the campaign.

Sujan Chakraborty, the CPI(M)'s current legislative party leader who's contesting from Jadavpur (Buddhadeb's old seat), is candid enough to admit the former CM cannot be blamed for what went wrong. It was a "collective decision". Chakraborty and his young comrades are creating quite a ripple, thanks to civil rights groups, musicians, and theatre and film artistes who've come out in direct or tangential support of the Left with jingles and viral videos. So is former MP, politburo member Mohammed Salim, contesting from Chanditala, Hoogly, also the face of the CPI(M) campaign this election. Or Ashok Bhattacharya in his home turf, Siliguri. It may not result in a big electoral victory in terms of seats, but the Left hopes to get back some of the 27 per cent vote that it, in a way, gifted to the BJP in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls. The correlation was as direct as it could get: the BJP got 28 per cent votes, the Left lost 27 per cent.

Little wonder, then, that the BJP's latest song video circulating on social media platforms— starring Babul Supriyo, Asansol MP and union minister who's now contesting from Tollygunge constituency in Kolkata — targets the Left, and not the TMC.

Pawar's googly confuses party

NCP chief Sharad Pawar is known to confuse his party leaders some times. Pawar told his party members that he had not met Amit Shah in Ahmedabad and asked them to deny reports of such a confidential meeting. However, some NCP leaders said Pawar himself should have denied the report. Meanwhile, state health minister Rajesh Tope, who belongs to the NCP, alleged that the Centre was not supporting the state over vaccine supply. However, on the same day, Sharad Pawar said the union health minister is extending all support. Now, everyone is confused if this was Pawar's googly.

Home minister's tiffin box talk of the town

The newly appointed Maharashtra Home minister Dilip Walse Patil is known as a man of principles and discipline. He carries a lot of good will among media persons as well. During the state Assembly sessions in Mumbai, Patil's tiffin is a talk of the town. Patil never brings tiffin for one person, but at least for 30 to 50 people. The platter usually contains a variety of local cuisines and sweets. In the break during the sessions, many journalists gather at his chamber and enjoy the food cooked by his wife. Patil makes sure that if anyone misses the meal, they will at least get some sweets. The minister's tiffin session is usually accompanied by light conversation revolving around political issues. Several senior NCP leaders, including Ajit Pawar, have been part of this delicious meal and juicy discussions.

Congress Mumbai HQ undergoes vastu-compliance

Despite assuming charge as Maharashtra Congress president, veteran leader Nana Patol has not started working from Maharashtra Congress office — Tilak Bhavan in Dadar, but has instead chosen the small tiny office Gandhi Bhavan in Colaba. Sources said Patole asked a builder to make alterations to the Tilak Bhavan office as per Vastu rules. At present, massive renovation works are taking place in the Dadar building. Patole has already said he is determined to change the face of the party and make it number one in the upcoming elections. It seems he doesn't want to remain at the wrong place when it comes to Vastu.

The low-profile doctor who treats politicians

Doctor Amit Maydeo, who performed endoscopy on the high-profile patient NCP chief Sharad Pawar at Breach Candy hospital in Mumbai, said if required a gall bladder operation will be done on the veteran politician. Dr Amit Maydeo, who keeps a low profile, is one of the best endoscopy surgeons in the country. Earlier, he had handled several high-profile patients like former home minister Sushil Kumar Shinde. He was also consulted by former chief minister Devendra Fadnavis on various health issues. Though a man of few words, the doctor carries a lot of weight in political circles.

- Profound loss for queen who once called him her strength
- EX-navy commander retired from public duties in 2017
- 99-year-old was the longest serving royal consort in the UK

HUSBAND OF QUEEN ELIZABETH II, PRINCE PHILIP NO MORE

Duke of Edinburgh Prince Philip was a constant presence at Queen Elizabeth II's side | AP

LONDON

PRINCE Philip, the longest serving royal consort in British history who was a constant presence at Queen Elizabeth II's side for decades, died on Friday aged 99, Buckingham Palace announced.

The death of the Duke of Edinburgh is a profound loss for the 94-year-old monarch, who once described him as her "strength and stay all these years". Queen Elizabeth announced his passing "with deep sorrow" after he died peacefully in the morning at Windsor Castle, west of London, the palace said in a statement. "The Royal Family join with people around the world in mourning his loss," the statement said.

The outspoken former navy commander devoted much of his life as the queen's husband to charity work—but was notorious for numerous gaffes, some of them causing offence.

He was admitted to hospital on February 16, and went home after a month. Announcing his passing, BBC television played the national anthem over a picture of Philip in his prime, dressed in military dress uniform.

Flags were lowered to half-mast on royal and government buildings and a notice announcing his death pinned to the gates of Buckingham Palace.

Tributes poured in from the United States, Europe and Commonwealth countries including Australia, India and New Zealand. "My thoughts are with the British people and the Royal Family on the passing away of HRH The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh," Prime Minister Narendra Modi tweeted. Agencies

OPERATION FORTH BRIDGE

London: As a senior royal, Prince Philip's death triggers a period of national mourning and the implementation of a well-rehearsed protocol. For official planning purposes, the Duke of Edinburgh's funeral preparations have been codenamed "Forth Bridge", after the landmark crossing near the Scottish capital. "Details will be confirmed in due course," the Buckingham Palace added, asking the public "not to gather in crowds" to express their condolences.

Junta refuses to let UN envoy go on tour of crisis-hit Myanmar

YANGON

MYANMAR'S junta refused on Friday to let a UN envoy visit the country, despite mounting international efforts for a diplomatic solution to the post-coup crisis.

The UN's special envoy for Myanmar, Christine Schraner Burgener, is on a tour of Asian countries aimed at charting a path out of the turmoil engulfing the country.

It comes amid growing international concern at events in Myanmar, rocked by daily protests since the military ousted civilian leader Aung San Suu Kyi and seized power on February 1.

Burgener starts her trip in Thailand and will also visit China, though exact details and timings for her trip have not been confirmed. UN officials say Burgener wants to travel to Myanmar for face-to-face meetings with the generals, but a junta spokesman ruled it out.

"We have not permitted this. We also have no plan to allow it at this moment," spokesman Zaw Min Tun told AFP. There was more bloodshed on Friday, with rescue workers reporting at least four people killed in the early morning when security forces broke up protest barricades in the city of Bago, 65 kilometres northeast of Yangon.

Local media reports said the fighting continued during the day, and the death toll could be higher.

Protesters march in Myaynigone township during a demonstration on Friday | AFP

UN rights officials say the military is making increasing use of heavy weaponry including rocket-propelled and fragmentation grenades, heavy machine guns and snipers. The military insists it is responding proportionately to what it says are violent protesters. At a news conference in Naypyidaw, officers displayed guns they said were seized from demonstrators.

The protest movement has sought to disrupt the military's ability to run the country by encouraging key public workers such as doctors and railway staff to stay at home.

The military spokesman, accused medical staff of "killing people in cold blood" by refusing to work. "Now the public hospitals cannot function because health workers are breaking their ethics," he told reporters. AFP

US to send warships as Ukraine tensions rise

ANKARA

THE US will send two warships through the Bosphorus to the Black Sea next week, the Turkey said Friday, as tensions simmer between Russia and Ukraine.

The ships will pass through the Bosphorus and enter the increasingly restless region on April 14 and 15 and leave on May 4 and May 5, a Turkish foreign ministry source told reporters. Washington is required to give Ankara at least 15 days' notice before sending warships through the Bosphorus and Dardanelles straits under the terms of the 1936 Montreux Convention.

The treaty's terms allow foreign warships to stay in the Black Sea for 21 days.

US Navy ships routinely operate in the region in support of Ukraine, which has been fighting Russian-backed forces in its east since a 2014 revolution ousted the pro-Moscow leader in Kiev.

Russia annexed Ukraine's Crimea peninsula around the same time, setting up a confrontation with the West that lingers to this day. Russia recently sent military reinforcements to both the Ukrainian border and Crimea. White House press secretary Jen Psaki said on Thursday the number of Russian troops at the border with Ukraine was now greater "than at any time since 2014". Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky is due to meet Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan on Saturday in Istanbul. The conflict of Ukraine's mainly Russian-speaking east has claimed more than 13,000 lives and turned into a nagging problem in Moscow's relations with the West.

> Ukraine is supported by the entire civilised world. We are not alone in the face of the enemy
>
> Ruslan Khomchak, chief of general staff of the Ukrainian Armed Forces

The fighting has subsided in the past few years but a diplomatic solution to settle the eastern regions' status has stayed out of reach. Crimea is also still recognised as part of Ukraine by the United Nations, and Kiev vows to one day win it back.

New US President Joe Biden, who previously oversaw Washington's policies on Ukraine, is viewed as a strong ally by Ukrainians. AFP

Amazon workers reject push for union

WASHINGTON

A contentious unionisation drive at an Amazon warehouse in Alabama failed as a vote count on Friday showed a wide majority of workers rejecting the move. In a vote count seen online, National Labor Relations Board officials counted more than 1,608 "no" votes, representing a majority of the 3,215 ballots cast.

Slightly more than 600 votes favored the unionization effort organised by the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union. The results cap a bitterly contested, months-long organising drive which drew national attention and would have resulted in the first union at a US-based Amazon facility.

Activists and political leaders supported the union drive, citing concerns over a high-pressure environment in which workers are constantly monitored. Amazon claimed that it already delivered above-average benefits and salary. Agencies

Direct tax inflow beats revised estimates

While direct tax collections for FY21 were 5% higher than expected, they are 10% lower than the previous fiscal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Centre's direct tax collections for 2020-21 came in at ₹9.45 lakh crore, higher than the revised estimates of ₹9.05 lakh crore disclosed during the recently announced Union Budget for FY 2020-21.

However, while better than expected, direct tax revenue still remains 10 per cent lower than that recorded during 2019-20, reflecting the impact that the pandemic and subsequent lockdowns had on the government's tax revenue.

According to Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) chairman PC Mody, out of the total provisional net direct tax collections, around ₹4.57 lakh crore was from the corporate tax kitty, ₹4.71 lakh crore from income tax, and around ₹17,000 crore from Securities Transaction Tax.

These collection numbers are after accounting for the ₹2.61 lakh crore refunds given to taxpayers for the year, the Union finance ministry said on Friday. Refunds worth ₹1.83 lakh crore were issued in fiscal year 2019-20. "... mark(s) an increase of approximately 42 per cent over the preceding financial year," Mody pointed out.

He, however, added that these were provisional figures and that they would be updated pending the final collation of data on collections.

In the Budget announcement this year, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had slashed the estimated net direct tax collection to ₹9.05 lakh crore, down from the ₹13.19 lakh crore announced before the Covid outbreak.

"Despite an extremely challenging year, the Advance Tax collections for F.Y. 2020-21 stand at ₹4.95 lakh crore which shows a growth of approximately 6.7 per cent over the Advance Tax collections of the immediately preceding financial year," the ministry said in its statement.

For the new fiscal year 2021-22, the Centre has budgeted direct tax collections of ₹11.08 lakh crore. Despite the second wave the pandemic leading to a resurgence of localised, state-specific lockdowns, the revenue department is confident that they will be able to achieve this target.

"We know that times are difficult. We are helping taxpayers through initiatives like faceless assessment and faceless appeal. We are confident that we will be able to meet the current targets," Mody said.

Covid havoc sends petroleum demand diving 9% in FY21

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

CONSECUTIVE national lockdowns and large scale disruption in transport and logistical activity saw India's fuel consumption contract in FY21 for the first time in over two decades, data from the petroleum ministry's Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC) showed on Friday.

Fuel demand contracted by a sharp 9.1 per cent during the fiscal year pan-India, with 194.63 million tonnes of petroleum products being consumed compared to 214.12 million tonnes the previous fiscal (FY20). This contraction is the first since 1998-99—the earliest year for which petroleum consumption data is published.

The dive was led by diesel, unsuprisingly, being the fuel of choice for most industrial and commercial transport in India. Diesel consumption fell 12 per cent to 72.72 million tonnes during the year, while petrol demand shrank 6.7 per cent to 27.95 million tonnes.

Domestic cooking gas, or LPG, was the only fuel category that saw an increase during the fiscal, consumption rising by 4.7 per cent to 27.59 million tonnes from 26.33 million tonnes in 2019-20. Analysts note that this was largely driven by the government's policy of offering free cylinders to the poor as relief during the pandemic.

With airlines remaining shut for the'most years and yet to resume full-scale operations, jet fuel (ATF) consumption recorded a fall of 53.6 per cent to 3.7 million tonnes.

Naphtha sales were almost flat at 14.2 million tonnes, but bitumen (used in road construction) rose 6 per cent to 7.11 million tonnes as the government stepped up construction activity to reflate the economy.

Fuel consumption had halved in April last year following the imposition of the lockdown late in March 2020, but started to recover once the lockdowns began being eased in May and June. Petrol sales had returned to pre-Covid levels in September last year, and the subsequent festive season helped boost economic activity and hence diesel demand.

In March 2021, fuel demand had recovered enough to post a 18 per cent year-on-year growth to 18.77 million tonnes with diesel consumption rising 27 per cent and petrol 25.7 per cent.

RBI likely to hold interest rates through FY22: Fitch

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GIVEN the current economic scenario, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is likely to keep benchmark policy interest rates unchanged during the current fiscal year up to March 2022, according to a report from global financial consultancy Fitch Solutions.

"As such, we at Fitch Solutions have revised our forecast for the RBI to keep its policy repurchase (repo) rate on hold at 4 per cent over the course of FY22 (April 2021 March 2022), from our view of a 25 basis point cut previously," it said in its note. The agency made particular note of the central bank's plans to buy ₹1 lakh crore of government bonds.

"We had initially expected another policy rate cut to arrest the rise in government bond yields since the Union Budget announcement in February. However, having an explicit bond purchase guidance from the RBI following the announcement of the G-SAP will also achieve a similar effect, if not even be more effective than a rate cut on capping the increase in bond yields," it said.

The RBI had held its policy repurchase (repo) rate unchanged at 4 per cent during its latest monetary policy meeting held on April 7. The monetary policy committee (MPC) also maintained its stance to keep monetary policy accommodative for as long as necessary to sustain growth on a durable basis. In addition, it had announced a secondary market government securities acquisition programme (G-SAP 1.0), committing to buy up to ₹1 lakh crore worth of government bonds in the first quarter of the current fiscal year.

Inflation forecast revised upward for FY22

Fitch Solutions also revised its inflation rate forecast to an average of 5 per cent in FY22, up from 4.6 per cent previously, due to elevated inflationary pressures. The elevated inflation forecasts only "underscores our expectation for the RBI to keep its policy rate on hold", it pointed out in its research note

Renault, Mahindra roll out scrapping incentives

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

WITH the long-awaited vehicle scrappage policy having been announced earlier last month, automakers have begun forming alliances to offer end-to-end solutions to customers who opt to scrap their older vehicles.

Renault and Mahindra announced on Friday that they have formed a partnership with Cero Recycling, a joint venture between Mahindra Intertrade and state-run MSTC, to dismantle older vehicles and offer fair value along with incentives in return.

Renault under its new 'R.E.L.I.V.E' programme is offering customers the option of scrapping their end-of-life vehicles (ELVs) through Renault's dealerships. Renault's programme covers both two- and four-wheelers and will initially be available in Delhi-NCR, Chennai, Mumbai, Pune and Bangalore.

Under the programme, owners of ELVs can receive a scrap value quote for their vehicle along with additional benefits on the purchase of a new Renault vehicle. Renault and Cero Recycling will handle the entire process, from vehicle evaluation to de-registration with the RTO, and provide the owner with a Certificate of Deposit/Destruction.

While the French carmaker did not reveal much on the benefits that will be offered for scrapping four-wheelers, two-wheeler owners will be offered a special 7.99 per cent rate of interest from Renault Finance on the purchase of a new car.

Mahindra & Mahindra is also offering a similar service, with any customer intending to purchase a new Mahindra vehicle by scrapping or exchanging old vehicles more than 15 years old can do so at any Mahindra dealership.

"These services would provide the utmost convenience to the customer without the need to look for a vehicle scrapping agency/dealer. This is especially relevant given the new vehicle scrappage policy announced in the Lok Sabha... to eliminate old and polluting vehicles," it said.

IBBI notifies rules for new pre-packaged resolution process

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India (IBBI) on Friday notified the regulations for the recently announced pre-packaged insolvency resolution process, introduced to provide an easier path to resolution for stress Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs).

Among the key aspects of the rules is the continued independence of the resolution professional. According to the rules, an insolvency professional can be appointed as resolution professional if they are independent of the corporate debtor—blocking any person or entities that are related to the debtor. The rules specify that the resolution professional and all partners and directors of the insolvency professional entity have to be independent of the debtor.

A person will be treated as independent if they are eligible to be appointed as an independent director on the board of the debtor, are not a related party of the debtor, and not an employee or proprietor or a partner of the debtor.

> Process will ensure quicker, cost-effective and value maximising outcomes, with the least disruption to the continuity of businesses
>
> Ministry of Corporate Affairs

The Centre had introduced the new system by way of an ordinance on April 4 which amended the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) to introduce the a pre-pack process.

The MSME sector has been among the most severely affected segments of the Indian economic engine and analysts welcomed a system that would help MSMEs more easily navigate the maze of the IBC-driven system. The corporate affairs ministry said that the new system would "provide an efficient alternative insolvency resolution framework for... MSMEs". This, it added, would help ensure a positive signal to the debt markets, lead to employment preservation, an improvement in ease of doing business and the preservation of enterprise capital.

MFs' assets under management surge by 41%

Thematic funds turn market favourites

During fiscal year 2020-21, sectoral and thematic funds recorded the highest net inflows of ₹9,801 crore, while large-cap funds saw the highest net outflows of ₹10,587 crore, as investors fretted about costly valuations after the recent sharp run-up in stock prices

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

REFLECTING the massive inflows of wealth into the Indian stock markets seen over the second half of the previous financial year 2020-21, Indian mutual funds recorded a massive 41 per cent year-on-year increase in their assets under management (AUM) for the full financial year.

According to the industry data collated by Crisil Ratings, the MF industry's AUM stood at ₹31.43 lakh crore at the end of FY21. The sharp increase comes even though this number registered a marginal 1 per cent decline in March 2021 after a renewed surge in Covid-19 cases increased investor pessimism and resulted in heightened market volatility.

The 1 per cent decline in March was primarily driven by net outflows from open-ended debt funds, even though open-ended equity funds for the first time in June 2020 recorded net inflows, Crisil pointed out.

Open-ended debt funds record highest on-year net outflows of ₹52,528 crore in March, the worst seen since the ₹1.95 lakh crore hit recorded in March 2020. Within the category, liquid funds witnessed the highest outflows of ₹19,384 crore, followed by low duration funds at ₹15,847 crore.

However, corporate bond funds, which invest in an underlying portfolio of top-rated papers, emerged as the biggest attraction with net inflows of ₹69,305 crore, while credit risk funds saw the highest net outflows of ₹28,923 crore.

Equity funds, however, saw the first net inflows in eight months, with assets hitting a fresh high with net inflows of ₹9,115 crore following eight straight months of net outflows. Last minute tax-saving investments also favoured equity funds, with equity linked savings scheme recording net inflows of ₹1,552 crore in the month, the second highest net inflows in the broad segment.

Borrowing via G-Secs at 11-month high

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Centre kicked off the first Government Securities (G-Sec) auction of the current fiscal with a record high borrowing of ₹32,853 crore—the highest weekly market borrowing since May 2020, according to Care Ratings.

The amount, higher than the notified quantum of ₹32,000 crore, has been raised at a rate of 6.14 per cent indicating that the central bank's liquidity and yield control moves are paying off, the research agency pointed out.

Care's chief economist Madan Sabnavis noted that the higher-than-notified borrowing comes in the wake of an earlier ₹10,000 crore auction almost fully devolving. However, the weighted average yield in Friday's auction was 4 basis points lower than the cost of borrowing in the previous auction held on March 19, 2021.

Borrowing costs for the government have been rising steadily, with the number breaching the 6 per cent-mark in the past three auctions.

This had led the RBI to commit ₹1 lakh crore of assured liquidity pumping during the first quarter through a new yield management tool called the government securities acquisition programme, or G-SAP. G-SAP's main aim is to keep bond yields under control so that economic recovery sustains.

FM reviews vaccination of ministry staff

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FINANCE Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday conducted a review meeting to examine the progress made in vaccinating eligible staff of both the Union Finance and Corporate Affairs ministries. According to the finance ministry, Sitharaman held "interactions with officers and staff—from Section Officers to Secretary level—of all departments" of both ministries.

During her meetings, Sitharaman reiterated the Prime Minister's call for a nationwide vaccination festival during April 11-14 and appealed to all officials to strictly follow Covid-19 safety protocols, including wearing masks, sanitising frequently, and maintaining social distance. The interaction was held in six batches and virtually monitored the number of staff vaccinated so far among those who are in the eligible age group.

India has reported 1,31,968 new Covid-19 cases in just the past 24 hours, the highest single day spike so far.

JSW Sports to offer guidance to sports start-ups

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE sports wing of the $13 billion JSW Group—JSW Sports—announced on Friday that it has tied up with India Accelerator in a partnership that will focus on providing mentorship and guidance to start-ups working in the sports sector. Sports tech, while not as prolific as some of its other new-age compatriots, is still seeing significant traction in the market and the number of start-ups operating in the space has been increasing steadily.

According to JSW Sports, the partnership will mentor startups working with sports data, gaming and e-sports, and create a holistic ecosystem for them. As part of the partnership, both firms will jointly offer a 16-week long accelerator programme to a cohort of five to seven seed-stage start-ups.

It will cover sports data analysis, wearables and performance, e-sports, stadiums and venues, and fan engagement followed by extensive support and funding. The selected startups will gain product and technical support, strategic delivery guidance, opportunities for concept testing, and network-building opportunities. A selection and execution board with representatives from both parties will carry out and manage the programme.

"The sports culture has always been a big crowd puller and a uniting force across the country. With the mindset and widespread acceptance of this vertical, it has grown multifold to encompass wider and multiple streams," said Ashish Bhatia, founder and MD, India Accelerator.

RAI seeks central system to ensure stable retail ops

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

WITH Covid-19 cases continuing to soar, the Retailers Association of India (RAI) on Friday called for a centralised framework that would allow the smooth operations of all retail formats across various states that have decided to impose renewed restrictions.

Pointing out that the shutting down of non-essential retail shops and malls is not the solution, RAI claimed that there was, instead, an urgent need for stricter surveillance to ensure that safety and hygiene and social distancing norms were followed strictly.

"We need a centralised framework that allows for the non-discriminatory operations of all formats of retail and time-bound resolutions," RAI Chief Executive Officer Kumar Rajagopalan said, "Punish those who are violating safety norms, take strict action. Complete shutting down of retail, other than essentials, will not solve any problem. Businesses are struggling, millions of jobs are at stake."

MIND VERSUS HEART FOR SUPER KINGS

Will franchise pick the right players or will they favour loyalty and emotional connect in a very important year; testing times await Dhoni & Co

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

IT is 2021 and the pandemic has a changed lot of things around the world. But in the post-Covid-19 world, Chennai Super Kings have managed to retain their past, with MS Dhoni still being the face of the franchise. It has been more than a decade since he first donned the yellow kit and for the first time you are beginning to hear whether he has remained way too long.

Chennai is an emotional city. It loves the varied faces. It has fallen for heroes, especially the boy-next-door type. It never gets tired of celebrating them. It likes reminiscing about the glorius past, which the Super Kings have given plenty of. They were the most successful IPL franchise. For 10 seasons they were the only team to make the play-offs every season. But all of it is in the past. It is only nostalgia that is left now.

After the setback of the last edition, where they finished seventh, barely recognisable, it's an understatement to say that this season is an important one. The Super Kings' faithfuls have been waiting for a happy ending. It's the image of their 'Thala' lifting the title for the fourth time before bidding adieu. They still back him to bring back the cup and narrow the gap with leaders Mumbai Indians. But there are doubts whether the Colonel has the troops to achieve this.

By Dhoni's own words, Chennai had too many holes last season. However hard they tried, they couldn't hide any of those. Had a full fledged auction been there, Chennai would have had the chance to rebuild the squad completely. But, in the absence of one, they have added new faces in Moeen Ali, Robin Uthappa, K Gowtham and Jason Behrendorff to their ranks. They no doubt fill the holes, but it is their core group that still remains a cause of concern.

Dhoni, Suresh Raina, Dwayne Bravo have experience behind them. But how effective will they be is the question on everyone's mind. Since the last IPL, Dhoni hasn't played any competitive cricket and Ambati Rayudu, their other premier batsman, has played only five matches with only 50-plus score. Ditto with Raina. Bravo has games behind his belt, but at 40, whether he has the fitness to last the entire edition remains to be seen.

For all the talk of Chennai striking an emotional chord with the locals, that it has spilled inside is hard to miss. They are a franchise that lay emphasis on loyalty and connect, but it can be their undoing on a competitive field. In Ruturaj Gaikwad, Moeen, Sam Curran, Mitchell Santner, Gowtham, Shardul Thakur and Deepak Chahar, they have the personnel who can help them to the play-offs, but the question is whether the Super Kings will play them ahead of those who have made an emotional connect.

In many ways it is Dhoni's team. Win or lose, the buck stops with him. In a tournament where teams look for a cutting edge and new ideas, after a disappointing season, Chennai have chosen to retain faith in their tried and tested personnel. Even the support staff led by head coach Stephen Fleming – the longest serving coach in the IPL – is at the helm, looking to script another comeback.

For a team that is known to make 'comeback' their synonym, the challenge that lies ahead of them seems beyond theirs. Unless they stop being themselves.

Royal Challengers Bangalore's Harshal Patel (R) celebrates the wicket of Ishan Kishan of Mumbai Indians during their IPL clash in Chennai | SPORTZPICS

CSK VS DC
TODAY 7.30 PM @ SS1

CHENNAI SUPER KINGS

How will they respond the debacle of last season? On paper they have a versatile squad with players who can be used as floaters. Whether they have figured what the right combination is the question that is on everyone's lips. Playing away from home means, they need big totals. If they can manage to do that, they have bowlers to do the job.

DELHI CAPITALS

One amongthe favourites, Shreyas Iyer's absence means they have to make few changes to their top-order. How far that affects their combination remains to be seen. The absence of Axar Patel for the initial few matches will no doubt be a big miss, but given their bench strength, expect someone or the other to put the hand up and deliver.

Harshal and AB shine as RCB post thrilling win

ENS @Chennai

ABRAHAM. Benjamin. de. Villiers.

On a night when Royal Challengers Bangalore tried their damnedest to lose the opening match of the 14th edition of the IPL against Mumbai Indians, De Villiers showcased his full range to take them home in a bumclencher that went the full 240 balls. Chasing 160, a tricky total on a sluggish, low typical Chepauk surface, the South African's end overs blitz — he went from four off eight to 48 off 27 in the last five overs — helped Bangalore steal a thriller. Even though he was run out in agonising fashion, Harshal Patel dug out a Marco Jensen yorker to hit the winning run.

It was fitting that Patel hit the winning run because it was he who set the ball rolling for Virat Kohli & Co. Patel, traded in from Delhi Capitals ahead of the season, became the first bowler in IPL history to take a fifer against the defending champions who have now lost all nine of their IPL openers. While Mumbai will take heart even from this defeat — a few of their choice players will return — Bangalore may have found the right template finally.

1 Harshal Patel is the first bowler to take a fifer against Mumbai Indians in IPL history.

Brief scores: MI 159/9 (Lynn; S Yadav 31; Harshal 5/27) lost to 160/8 in 20 ovs (De Villiers 48; Bumrah 2/26).

They showed the BCCI top brass — most of whom watched the match in the stadium (maskless and not adhering to physical distancing norms if you were wondering) — why they pushed the boat out to sign Glenn Maxwell, Kyle Jamieson and traded in Patel from Delhi.

Maxwell acted as the middle-overs enforcer, allowing Kohli to open with De Villiers to unfurl his range at the end. In the bowling department, Jamieson's hard lengths did the job as he went for just 27 runs. Mohammed Siraj, he and Patel together bowled 37 dots, it included a stupendous final over four-wicket maiden from the latter. After the bowlers did what they were supposed to do — a sentence that hasn't been written a lot — De Villiers showed he can still do it — a sentence that's been written a lot.

Wrestlers to reach Almaty just hours before qualifiers

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

EYEING Olympic berths, travel fatigue and sleep deprivation could be the biggest hurdles for India's women wrestlers to overcome when they take the mat in Almaty, Kazakhstan during the Asian Olympic Games Qualifier on Saturday.

Unavailability of air tickets meant all the five women wrestlers along with three freestyle male grapplers and other support staff could leave the country only on Friday morning. What added to their woes was a long layover in Tashkent. This will mean that the women wrestlers will reach the venue in the morning, just two-and-a-half hours before the start of the qualification bouts. Competition for the freestyle male wrestlers is scheduled for Sunday.

"They will reach Almaty in morning and have to take mat within a couple of hours," a parent of one of the women wrestlers told this daily. Only Vinesh Phogat (53kg) has booked an Olympic berth among women wrestlers from India. Seema Bisla (50kg), Anshu Malik (57kg), Sonam Malik (62kg), Nisha Dahiya (68kg) and Pooja Sihag (76kg) will compete in Asian qualifier on Saturday.

"Six Greco-Roman wrestlers along with three referees and coach Hargobind Singh left for Almaty a couple of days ago. Other members of the Indian contingent left Friday morning. This happened as tickets were not available due to less flights because of Covid-19 pandemic," Vinod Tomar, assistant secretary of the Wrestling Federation of India said.

NEW DELHI: The Sports Authority of India (SAI) on Friday announced a three-week "summer vacation" at its National Centres of Excellence (NCOE) owing to the relentless spike in Covid-19 cases but said that the Olympic-bound will continue to train at their ongoing camps. India has been reporting over 1 lakh cases for the past few days.

United too good, Arsenal woeful

PARIS: Manchester United defeated Spanish club Granada 2-0 in the first leg of Europa League quarterfinal tie in Spain on Thursday, while Arsenal conceded a stoppage-time equaliser in a 1-1 draw at home to Czech champions Slavia Prague. Marcus Rashford and Bruno Fernandes found the back of the net for United.

Personal coaches taken care of: Batra

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

FRIDAY was an important day for the Indian Olympic Association (IOA). It was the last day to send the list of support staff, including physios and coaches, who would accompany the contingent to Tokyo. According to the body's president, Narinder Batra, the names have been forwarded keeping in the mind the interests of all federations. "Nobody can have any complaints," he said. In an interview to select media houses while inaugurating the CSS High Performance Hockey Centre inside the Sri Ramachandra Medical Centre campus, he also spoke about a variety of other issues. Excerpts:

On the number of support staff that will be sent.

Today (Friday) is the last date for that. How it usually works is we take 55% of the (qualified athletes) and house them in the Village. For others, we take them on our own, house them elsewhere and give day passes so they can be around athletes. The first part will happen this time too but I'm not sure about the second part. The names have gone. Most of the shooting athletes had personal coaches and that has been take care of. I would say not less than 95% of it has been taken care of, not less than that. There can be no complaints.

On preparation.

Feeling is we will end up somewhere in the region of 125-130 athletes. I would say our medal prospects will be double figures. Training is very much on, where in India or outside. Let's hope for the best, main thing is nobody should catch Covid-19. I do not want to talk individually about disciplines or athletes.

NSFS GET 6 MONTHS TO HOLD NATLS

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @New Delhi

IN a major boost to all the National Sports Federations (NSFs) who have been unable to host their national championships for the year 2020-21, the sports ministry has granted them an extension of six months. This will also help players, especially the age-group, who would have missed out on competing in a nationals because of the pandemic. In a circular issued by the ministry, which is in possession of this daily, the ministry has granted this six months relaxation period up to Sep 31 due to the pandemic. Usually, all NSFs have until Mar 31 to conclude hosting nationals for a financial year.

Hockey, archery, badminton, boxing, swimming are some of the sports federations that are yet to conduct their nationals both senior and age-group.

However, it is also mentioned that NSFs that will be conducting their nationals during this extension period will have to ensure that the eligibility criteria remains the same "assuming that the championships would have taken place as per original schedule".

This will be welcome for all the junior and sub-junior athletes. All sports bodies are eligible to receive funds released by the ministry for conducting these national championships and now with this extension, they can go about planning these meets once the coronavirus situation is under control.

Is there a 5th force of nature at play?

RESEARCH

ILLINOIS: Scientists believe they may have discovered a fifth force of nature, after observing tiny subatomic particles behaving in an unusual way. A new experiment sent tiny muon particles, which are similar to an electron, through a 15-ton electromagnet in an attempt to measure how they 'wobble' over time.

Called the Muon g-2 experiment, as the particles travelled along the 50-foot long magnetic track, they wobbled 0.1 per cent off the Standard Model that has been used for 50 years.

The Standard Model of physics suggests that everything in the universe is made from a few basic building blocks called fundamental particles, governed by four fundamental forces, the strong force, the weak force, the electromagnetic force, and the gravitational force.

The latest discovery by Fermilab suggests the muon could be interacting with undiscovered particles or forces, not featured in the Standard Model, and as muons form naturally when cosmic rays strike Earth's atmosphere, these results could change how we believe the universe works. The UK's Science and Technology Facilities Council (STFC) said the result 'provides strong evidence for the existence of an undiscovered sub-atomic particle or new force'. However, they caution that there is a one in a 40,000 chance that the result could be a statistical error.

The Muon g-2 experiment searches for signs of new particles and forces by precisely examining the muon's interaction with a surrounding magnetic field. The muon, when placed in the magnetic field, acts like a tiny magnetic compass and like a gyroscope, this compass rotates at a certain precise frequency, predicted by the Standard Model. However, the g-2 collaboration has measured this rotation to be faster than predicted – suggesting that our current understanding of physics is incomplete. The peculiar behaviour challenges the Standard Model developed about 50 years ago .

There are also four fundamental forces at work in the universe: the strong force, the weak force, the electromagnetic force, and the gravitational force.

Wildfires melting glaciers fast: Expert

CLIMATE

DEHRADUN: A significant increase in black carbon triggered by a spike in the incidence of wildfires in Uttarakhand is not only worsening the air quality but also is posing a threat to the 900-odd glaciers in the region, causing them to melt faster, say scientists and experts.

A scientist at the Almora-based Govind Ballabh Pant Institute of Himalayan Environment and Development, Kirit Kumar, said: "The raging wildfires provoke an increase in black carbon quantity in air, pushing them up to 4.62 cubic micrograms, especially during April- June period. Normally, glaciers act as mirrors, reflecting most of the light and heat through a phenomenon called albedo. However, when black carbon deposit over glaciers increases, it absorbs an inordinately high quantum of light and heat, leading to a decrease in albedo, thereby catalysing melting." Kirit, however, said more research was needed to arrive at a definitive conclusion.

According to experts, black carbon deposit of around 1-2 cubic micrograms in air is considered normal. It is formed due to incomplete combustion of fossil fuels, biofuels and biomass. ENS

FACT OF THE MATTER

Jurassic Park is a possibility

TECHNOLOGY

US technology company Neuralink could create 'novel exotic species' of dinosaurs in just 15 years, according to Max Hodak, one of its co-founders. Hodak is an American entrepreneur and technologist who co-founded the contentious neurotechnology firm with Elon Musk. The firm, known for putting a computer chip in the brain of a pig, could 'probably build Jurassic Park' if it wanted to, Hodak said, in reference to the 1993 blockbuster film. Neuralink is currently working on technology that aims to allow people to hook their brains up to a computer and become cyborgs. "We could probably build Jurassic Park if we wanted to," he tweeted.

A Soyuz capsule carrying Roscosmos cosmonauts Oleg Novitsky and Pyotr Dubrov and NASA astronaut Mark Vande Hei docked at 1105 GMT, footage broadcasted by NASA TV showed. "There is contact!" Russia's space agency Roscosmos wrote on Twitter. "Hey, Expedition 64 -- set the dinner table... Can't wait to join you on @ Space_Station in a few hours!" Vande Hei tweeted to the crew on board the ISS hours before blast-off.

17L mystery viruses biding time

HEALTH

There are likely some 1.7 million undiscovered viruses in nature, half of which could spill over to infect humans and trigger new pandemics, UN scientists have warned. In their report, a team of 22 experts said that unless steps are taken, pandemics will emerge more often, spread faster, kill more people and do more economic damage. A 'transformative change' in the way we deal with infectious diseases — shifting to a preventative stance — will be needed to escape an 'Era of Pandemics', they said. COVID-19 is at least the sixth pandemic to strike since the outbreak of the 'Spanish flu' in 1918, which infected a third of the world's population and killed 20–50 million.

Archaeologists discover 3,500 yr-old lost golden city in Egypt

HISTORY

CAIRO: Archaeologists announced the discovery of a 3,500-year-old 'lost golden city' that was built by King Tutankhamun's grandfather and may be the most significant find since the boy-pharaoh's lavish tomb was unearthed nearly a century ago.

The ancient pharaonic city, known as Aten, was constructed by King Amenhotep III, who ruled around 1390 BCE, and was later used by King Tutankhamun.The settlement, discovered in Luxor, is the largest ancient city to be discovered in Egypt, and is complete with neighborhoods, streets and a security system.

Excavations uncovered bakeries, workshops and burials of animals and humans, along with jewelry, pots and mud bricks bearing seals of Amenhotep III. The team initially set out to discover Tutankhamun's Mortuary Temple, where the young king was mummified and received status rites, but they stumbled upon something far greater.

Within just weeks of digging, they uncovered 'mud brick formations in every direction', Egyptian mission directed Zahi Hawass said in a statement. "Many foreign missions searched for this city and never found it," Hawass said.

> It will not only give us a glimpse into the life of the Egyptians but also help us understand why Akhenaten & Nefertiti move to Amarnad
>
> Betsy Brian, Egyptology professor

Archaeologists unearthed the well-preserved city that had nearly complete walls and rooms filled with tools used in daily life along with rings, scarabs, colored pottery vessels and mud bricks bearing seals of Amenhotep's cartouche, Luxor Times shared on Facebook.

"The city's streets are flanked by houses ... some of their walls are three meters high," Hawass said. Luxor is famously known for its oldest and most ancient Egyptian sites, along with being home to the Valley of Kings. This area was once called the Great Necropolis of Millions of Years of Pharaoh, as a number of mummies and massive structures have been discovered in Luxor since the 1800s.

Betsy Brian, Professor of Egyptology at John Hopkins University in Baltimore USA, said: "The discovery of this lost city is the second most important archeological discovery since the tomb of Tutankhamun." The discovery not only will give us a rare glimpse into the life of the Ancient Egyptians at the time where the Empire was at his wealthiest but will help us shed light on one of history's greatest mystery: why did Akhenaten & Nefertiti decide to move to Amarna, she said.

Renting a motor home or caravan to travel across the state and beyond is Bengalureans' idea of a change of scene in these pandemic-ridden times

SIMRAN AHUJA

CLARE S' recent trip was memorable for many reasons. Not only was it the 23-year-old's first travel plan post the lockdown but it was also something she'd never tried before: To rent a caravan to Sakleshpur with her friends. The two-day trip left her with many sweet memories. "Once, we came across the ruins of a church, which was by the side of a water body. We halted there for lunch. And since the caravan comes equipped with a portable stove, we made some Maggi and fried chicken, and enjoyed it along a river," says the engineer, who went on this trip with two other friends from the city.

Clare is not the only one hopping aboard the caravan express. According to Chandrakanth Ramoji, while this form of tourism was novel in India, the pandemic helped it become more popular. So much so that even though Ramoji shifted his company Camper Trails' base from Bengaluru to Goa, he is still getting enquiries about his trailers (where a caravan is hitched onto an SUV). "I get at least 2-3 enquiries daily from people," he says, adding that he plans to launch again in October, with a minibus or tempo that has been converted into a caravan.

Nazmi Rafique Hasan and her husband

Similar to Camper Trails, companies like Trippy Wheels and LuxeCamper, offer caravan tourism. Sanjna Hangal, who co-founded Trippy Wheels with Vathsala C R, says their caravans – for 4, 6 and 8 people – come with sleeping and cooking facilities, indoor and outdoor games, and camping gear. "A driver comes along too. We left out a restroom in the caravan because waste disposal is a hassle. We have tie-ups with over 60 hostels and homestays in south India where people can use their facilities," she says, adding that while enquiries are on the rise, bookings aren't made until two weeks before the trip.

Tiger Ramesh, CEO and founder of LuxeCamper, sees five bookings a month. "Kabini, Bheemeshwari, Hampi, BR Hills, Sakleshpur, Kodagu, Goa, Mangaluru and Bandipur are popular," says Ramesh. LuxeCamper's caravans – which are 9-10 tonne buses – come with a driver, tour operator, AC, shower, toilets, WiFi, TV, etc.

Nazmi Rafique Hasan, who recently surprised her husband with a caravan trip to Bheemishwari, is glad she got a chance to travel like this during such times. "The jungle lodge we were parked at overnight was open and isolated, which made us feel safe. We started our mornings being greeted by monkeys jumping on the caravan's roof and deer grazing on the grass outside," says Hasan, who is now planning a trip with her parents.

MONEY MATTERS

While Trippy Wheels has a four-seater caravan that begins at ₹5,999 per day, LuxeCamper – which comes equipped with restroom and bathing facilities – starts at ₹10,000 (plus taxes) per day for four people. Speaking about her experience, Hasan says though not economical, her trip had value for money. "It covered everything from the vehicle, driver, tour operator, meals, AC, stay and adventure sports at the lodge. If this form of tourism picks up, the prices might drop in the long run," she adds.

OF STYLE & FESTIVE SPIRIT

Celebrate Ugadi being dressed to the nines with a new collection of clothes by A-list designers, who will display their creations at this pop-up in the city

MONIKA MONALISA

THE second wave of the pandemic has caused fear to rise in the air again but this doesn't have to dampen festive spirits. Since Ugadi is not far away, various A-list designers and brands like Rajesh Pratap Singh, Urvashi Kaur, and Torammally are showcasing their collection at Angadi Heritage. The exhibition will have saris, gowns, and menswear.

Fashion designer Rajesh Pratap Singh says his collection encapsulates Indian crafts and motifs. So what can one expect? "Careful detailing, signature pintuck, surface texturing and several elements that draw inspiration from rural Indian garments. Hand block printing, hand stitch detailing, hand quilting, geometric patterns and hand texturing make an appearance too," says Singh, adding that a line curated for Angadi Heritage would be available this month.

If you love art, Chennai-based brand Alamelu should definitely be a stop while you visit the pop-up. The collection depicts K H Radharaman, Alamelu's creative director's connection with art as it explores art in public spaces in his former hometown Chennai. From street art in Kannagi Nagar to the artist's village of Cholamandalam, the campaign reflects Radharaman's belief that art must be more inclusive. "The collection comprises an array of silk sheers and a linen blend. In keeping with the label's seasonless and trend-less approach to pattern-cutting, there is a wide range of size-agnostic styles that prioritise comfort and elegance," says Radharaman, who believes the pop-up is special because the label is making its debut in Bengaluru.

The right accessories are important for any look. Toramally, a brand for men's footwear, can tick that box off for you. "This exhibit will see Toramallies from our latest collection, 'The Realm', which highlights characteristic traits of people around us. This makes for a great temperament fit for individuals looking for shoes to reflect their personality. Also on display will be our timeless Toramallies from Diwan-e-Khas, inspired by the great sultans and dark romanticism, a collection that delves into Mario Praz's book The Romantic Agony," says Rahul Shastri, founder and design head of the brand.

The pop-up is happening at Angadi Heritage, Jayanagar, till April 18.

NATVARASANA

(LORD KRISHNA'S POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'Nata' means dance and 'asana' means pose. Lord Krishna is also fondly called as Natvara. He is popularly depicted in this pose, playing the flute. It is a balancing pose that develops balance and concentration. Krishna is one of the most popular and revered deities in Hinduism. In the yoga world, Krishna is known for his descriptions of the yogic paths of salvation in the sacred text, the Bhagavad Gita. Krishna shows up in several stories. As the eighth avatar of Vishnu, Krishna is considered the principal, or complete, incarnation of God. Krishna has also been portrayed as a child-god, divine hero, a child prankster and model lover.

STEPS

- Start in standing position with feet together. Gaze at a point ahead of you steadily.
- Bring the right leg forward and move it in front of the left leg. Take it further and tuck the right foot behind the left calf muscles.
- Place the right foot straight and almost vertical behind the left leg. Tuck the right toes inside and behind the calf to maintain balance.
- Right calf muscles must touch the shin of the left leg for support.
- Raise both hands to the right, bend the elbows and fold your fingers as if you are playing the flute.
- Keep the index and little fingers of both hands straight. Curl the rest of the fingers.
- Turn your head slightly to the left and gaze at a fixed point in front of you. As a variation, the head could also be turned to the right slightly.
- Maintain balance and breathe normally.
- Remain in this position for up to 2 minutes or as long as you are comfortable.
- To release, bring head back to the centre, bring down both the arms, release the right leg and place it on the floor.

FREEDOM OF BEING A SURVIVOR

RUBINATIONS

Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

Good morning Bangalore.

The moment my fingers touch the keyboard, I am filled with a feeling of doom. I read the Cardi-V statistics and go into another whirlpool of despair. This 'thing' is now too close for comfort and I actually end up feeling sorry for the people who are running helter-skelter and trying to protect themselves from its maleficent presence. I, for one, dodged a bullet because my viral load was very low. (See! I too have become proficient in Covlanguage). With the line of treatment in hospitals that involve the use of steroids, any minor co-morbidity can transform into a major one. And one has not yet reached the part of what long-standing repercussions this mutated virus has on ones' body after one has been infected. Scary, isn't it? But to mutilate the answer given to Satan; men cannot live by fear alone. After some time one isn't very sure what one is petrified about. Are you afraid for you elderly parents/relatives or are you afraid for the well-being of your children (most who cannot be vaccinated) and friends? The list is endless and mind-numbing!

My son has just left for Goa for a 'change of scene'. He can work from anywhere so he has chosen to be in his friend's very safe home, equipped with a pool, domestic help and a stone's throw away from the beach. I won't lie; I did have a huge argument with him before he left because I was petrified for his safety. But as he calmly pointed out, was he less safe than a month ago when both his parents contracted the virus and he was taking care of us in the same house? He was right of course and slowly my fear turned to envy! Our fears and safety measures are very subjective and self-serving. But, we are safe from nothing because we have to ultimately work and play in the same world. It has to be a personal responsibility at the end of the day.

All said and done, I feel a certain amount of freedom from anxiety now that I am a Covi-survivor. Though my second dose of vaccine is pending, as my doctor simply puts it: 'You have a truck load of antibodies. Don't waste it.' I still maintain all safety protocols, (masks, sanitisers, distancing etc.) and have found a core group of fully vaccinated or Cardi-V recovered friends to hang out with. If the world doesn't close up on me, I have booked myself on a Maldives getaway just to be able to lie on the beach and blank out! I have also warned my amused and shocked friends that I just might take a sky-diving trip in my 'birthday-suit' just because I can. There is a certain freedom in being a survivor n'est-ce pas?

Closer to home, I was invited to Shiro UB City, to partake in their Sangria and sushi afternoon. Armed with my two (fully vaccinated) besties on each arm, we spent an afternoon after nearly a year drinking some excellent sangrias and wolfing down delectable sushi amidst peals of laughter. By the time the main course came around our laughter was causing quite a cynosure! It was exhilarating! In fact as we were setting up another lunch date (we have to be optimistic in these morbid times), we were ticking off places where we could dance! (That's if our children don't disown us) Sigh! Just to feel quasi-safe again.

I pushed the envelope and decided to check out a new spa that specialises in deep-tissue massages on Lavelle road. Urban-Unwind was a lovely place with rooms dedicated to different massage techniques. I loved the one that promised a 'lazy person's yoga'! That will surely be the one I will try on my next visit.

Till then, take a deep breath and practice what you preach!

Don't let Covid dampen the festive spirit. This Ugadi, bring in the new year with a range of festive specials that you can make from the comfort and safety of your home

A sip of summer

AMAN DUA

SUMMER is the best season for mixology. During this time, a lot of seasonal fruits and other ingredients are available in the market, making it the perfect time to create citrus and fruity cocktails. Fruits like mango, sweet lime, watermelon, guava and many others are easily available. With the help of these, many bars plan to make a summer menu for their patrons.

Currently, bars can also create a good detox menu for their summer offerings. Spirits that are trending right now include gin, light rum and tequila. You can choose either of these for your cocktail. Gin goes well with fruits like strawberry and tonic water. You can even consider an in-house strawberry compote to mix with your favourite gin and tonic.

Summers are also a great time to try margaritas and daiquiris because these are the best for rehydration. The bartender can then use his/her creativity to serve you a drink based on your choice and preference. For example, drinks like mango jalapeno margarita tastes great. With rum, you can play around with drinks like guava mojito and watermelon basil daiquiri, which are usually hits on any menu.

This summer, we are introducing cocktails like Alcoholic Kaanji, Mature Panaka and Modern G&T. During my childhood, my mother used to make kaanji for us. We drank it after returning from school to hydrate ourselves. I still remember the taste. The alcoholic version we are serving will be a fermented drink with black carrot, beetroot, salt, lime, asafoetida, and vodka.

Similarly, the Mature Panaka also has an interesting back story in South India. Whenever a guest came home, people welcomed them with this drink, which is made of lime, ginger and jaggery. Inspired by this, we made a cocktail called Mature Panaka, which is a gin cocktail with raahi panaka mix. On the other hand, the Modern G&T comes with our in-house sous vide cooked lemongrass, a fresh citrus skin concoction and grapefruit tonic in it. Cheers to summer!

KODE MURUGA

Cast: Muni Krishna, Subramnaya Prasad, Aravind Rao, Pallavi Gowda, Dattana, and Rockline Sudhakar

Director: Subramanya Prasad

Producer: K Ravi Kumar & Ashok Shirali

Kode Muruga: A middling film on filmmaking

A SHARADHAA

The vision of an aspiring director, the process of seeing his brainchild through, and the struggles that he has to endure are the pillars that make up Kode Muruga, the first outing of Subramanya Prasada. The classic 'ugly duckling' tale wrapped in an outer covering of comedy, the movie still manages to convince the audience to watch it. Here's why.

Kode Muruga narrates the tale of Subramanya Prasada, a director in/of the film begins his struggle in cinema-like everyone by hunting for a producer. After running for a while, his friend helps him find an investor. Going by the history of the portrayal of producers in films, none blindly accepts the director's vision and here too, there is a condition. He asks the director to make his brother Muruga the face of the film.

The director finds himself in a quandary as Muruga is not your stereotypical hero. He has a personality that doesn't translate well on screen and the lack of tall and handsome stature makes him a misfit for a smart hero. Prasada however, enticed by the opportunity, takes up the challenge and brings Muruga on board. Over the next hour, we see the producer give up due to the shortcomings midway, but, the director endures it all for his filmmaking journey. Will he be able to deliver a hit at the box office?

Kode Muruga highlights a few disturbing scenarios that seem familiar to anyone in the industry. The plight of the director's life, the behind the scenes manoeuvring and the convincing role of Muruga, makes for interesting viewing. Subramanya Prasada perhaps wants to give us a glimpse into what went into making this movie and leave us with a few questions. However, there is liberal humour that also has the audience laughing and the entertainment factor is certainly strong in the first half.

But in the second half, the movie turns a bit preachy and might not work for audiences expecting more laughter. Muni Krishna, who plays Muruga, is a perfect choice for the role and shines throughout, after his small roles on television. He gives credibility to the saying 'do not judge a book by its cover' and delivers great comic timing, expressions and dialogue delivery. His sidekick is played by Kuri Pratap and supporting him are actors Pallavi Gowda, Dattana, Rockline Sudhakar, and Kaddipudi Chandru.

But Subramanya Prasada is both the strength and weakness of Kode Muruga. In an attempt to showcase his struggles on screen, he takes on all responsibility of the film, including story, screenplay, dialogues and lyrics. In the end, we come out thinking Prasada looks tired and exhausted and ready for the cold climax that Kode Muruga delivers. The film is definitely different from the regular releases in Sandalwood and it manages to entertain you in parts.

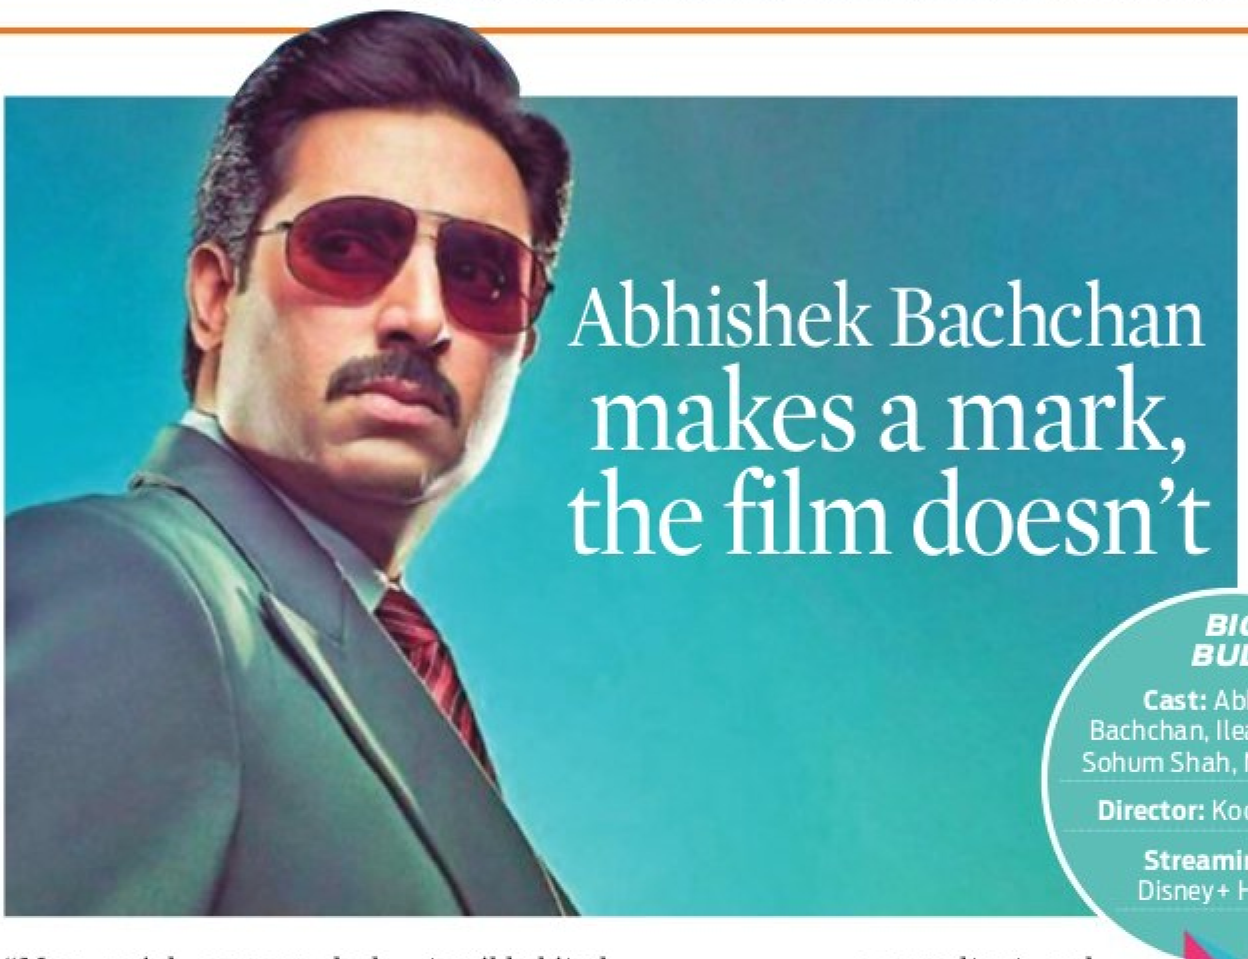
Abhishek Bachchan makes a mark, the film doesn't



BIG BULL

Cast: Abhishek Bachchan, Ileana D'Cruz, Sohum Shah, Nikita Dutta

Director: Kookie Gulati

Streaming on: Disney+ Hotstar

RATING 2.5/5

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

The 2020 lockdown made us learn many new things. Aside from cooking, baking, and other artistic endeavours, a lot of us also became stockbroking experts thanks to Hansal Mehta's Scam 1992. The series made words like bank receipts, dilution of shares, bull and bear commonplace. Now, along comes Kookie Gulati's The Big Bull. Of course, there will be comparisons to the series, but in many ways, Scam 1992 ran to ensure The Big Bull flies. Unfortunately, the film and its protagonist Hemant Shah (Abhishek Bachchan) meet the fate of the mythical Icarus.

The film is set in the late 80s and early 90s, and Kookie treats The Big Bull with the cinematic sensibilities of that era. While this tone admittedly works in places, Hemant Shah's rise is peppered with one too many fiery punch lines. We can only handle so many variations of "Mujhe dheere chalna nahi aata" and "Mere wajah se poora desh paisa kamaaya" in a 150-odd minute film. Even Hemant's forced evil laughter, whenever he does something devious, is terribly kitsch.

The writers also cram the screenplay a bit too much. From a clerk job, Hemant becomes a jobber, a stock broker, a consultant, and the highest tax-payer in the country so fast that we can't really empathise with his inevitable fall. It all comes too easy for Hemant and his brother, Viren (Sohum Shah). The lack of a strong antagonist is problematic too. Hemant is only really up against his own inflated ego. Also, the whitewashing and almost deifying of Hemant Shah is a downer.

One of the more interesting aspects of The Big Bull is the romantic angle, which is surprisingly pragmatic. However, it feels incomplete. The same holds for the arc of reporter Meera Rao (an impressive Ileana D'Cruz), who plays the narrator of The Big Bull. She is the financial reporter whose words take down the entire Hemant Shah empire. But her investigation into the scam and the fallout thereafter is unimaginative and not exactly as exciting as the music tries to make it. I particularly liked the music of The Big Bull, especially Carry Minati's rap number that infuses a much-needed freshness to the proceedings.

The film is mounted on the able shoulders of Abhishek Bachchan, who gives it all for a role that is bound to draw comparisons. If there is one thing that has been constant in Abhishek's life, it has been comparisons. First, with his legendary father, Amitabh Bachchan. Then, even his critically-acclaimed roles in Yuva and Raavan, were compared to Madhavan and Vikram, who played these roles in the Tamil versions. And now, Abhishek is faced with the unenviable prospect of following Pratik Gandhi's performance in Scam 1992. While Abhishek is effective as Hemant Shah, the overall generic nature of the proceedings pull him down.

Parallels to Scam 1992 aside, The Big Bull actually has more in common with Mani Ratnam's Guru — right from Abhishek Bachchan's gait and intense looks to the proverbial rise and fall. If there was a Madhavan in Guru, here, we have an Ileana. If there was a Mithun Chakraborty locking horns with Abhishek in the 2007 film, here we have a Saurabh Shukla. The Big Bull has a Nikita Dutta in the place of Aishwarya Rai. A court sequence in Guru is replaced with a press meet in The Big Bull. Just like Guru, The Big Bull too is about a Gujarati man teaching the middle class to dream and make money.

All these comparisons notwithstanding, The Big Bull definitely had the potential to be another retelling of a fascinating story of one man who went against the system only to be consumed by its vagaries. However, it falls short because it tries too hard. Kookie and Abhishek set out to make a film about the middle class 'sapnon ka saudagar', but what we end up with is a story of a big bull who bellows his way to the top most echelons of stockbroking only to come crashing down like the Sensex on Black Tuesday.
